222 PERSONS ON STREAMLINER AWAITING AID

Rescuers Snowplowing Through Deep Drifts To Reach Stranded Rail Train

COLFAX, Calif., Jan. 16 — (AP)— Rescuers snowplowing through deep drifts pushed within two miles of a blizzard-trapped streamliner Wednesday—but still faced much work to reach and bring out 222 stranded passengers and crewmen.

The passengers have been snowbound since Sunday aboard the Southern Pacific's luxurious City of San Francisco. They're in Donner Pass, altitude 7,200 feet.

Here's the complicated situation: A rescue train still has one and a half miles to go to reach a highway where it will pick up the passengers.

A highway crew still must open one and a half miles of No. 20 to reach its nearest point one-half mile—of the stranded train.

The weather was moderating, at least temporarily, and an SP spokesman said all passengers will walk the half mile to the highway. From there they will be taken by automobile to the relief train, which will carry them the 83 miles to Sacramento.

The SP spokesman quoted Dr. Lawrence Nelson, of Truckee, Calif., who reached the train by dogsled, as reporting all passengers were able to walk to the highway.

He said those made ill—variously reported at 27 to 60—by gas fumes two days ago, had recovered.

The relief train, a Pullman-club car combination, has five or six doctors and several nurses.

Meanwhile, another train started again at daybreak from Norden, 15 miles uphill from the streamliner. It turned back Tuesday night because of mechanical trouble. This train carries medical supplies, dogs and dog sleds.

As rescuers worked through the night the marooned passengers huddled in the 20-degree chill of the Sierra Nevada winter.

They were wrapped in blankets. Fuel oil for heat ran out Monday noon.

Snow drifted high against the windows. Drifts buried the engine.

The streamliner was packed in a tight valley. It was described as beneath a rocky ledge and safe from danger of avalanche.

Only four had made it out from the train. They told a story of cold and chill, and of heroic work by a doctor and five nurses aboard.

They rode out on a snow tractor Tuesday.

The four, all servicemen, still were sleeping this morning at Nyack Lodge, five and a half miles downslope.

That was where rescuers planned to begin taking the 192 remaining passengers if the snowplows could complete a road. There are 30 in the train crew.

One of the two relief trains has plush Pullman and club cars for the passengers. The other carried 12 of the little box-shaped weasels, which churn over the snow on tank-like tracks.

The passengers had ample food, carried in by a public utilities company weasel.

Dr. Lawrence Nelson of Truckee returned from the train and said all but a few had recovered from the gas fumes. He rode a dogsled 12 miles and a weasel five and a half miles to get in.

The four servicemen told how they pushed into compartments to yank victims out for respiration, often having to be rescued themselves.

All praised a Dr. Roehll, who worked tirelessly against the gas. He was believed to be Dr. Walter Henry Roehll of Middletown, Ohio.

RED CROSS AIDES NOT WELCOME

UN Says Reds Violate POW Protection Laws

MUNSAN, Jan. 16—(AP)—The United Nations Command charged Wednesday that Communists in Korea "violate every provision" of the Geneva Convention protecting prisoner of war camps from the hazards of war.

The charge came from headquarters in Tokyo in comment on a Red report that UN planes bombed a POW camp at Kangdong Monday night. The statement said the question would be raised with the Communists "at the earliest opportunity."

Panmunjom negotiators still are deadlocked on how to exchange prisoners and what will be done with Red airfields during an armistice.

The Communists denied two International Red Cross representatives permission to enter North Korea. Dr. Otto Legner, chief Far East delegate of the international committee of the Red Cross, had flown to Panmunjom with Albert de Cocatrix seeking permission.

* * *

NORTH KOREAN Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho, delegate on the prisoner subcommittee, ignored the two Swiss A minor officer gave them the same reply the Reds have made to previous requests to let Red Cross representatives visit POW camps: "No."

Red China's official Peiping radio accused the Allies of trying "to keep Korea in a choronic state of war" to "create international tension." It asserted the UN Command would "have to bear full responsibility for all the consequences" if negotiators fail to agree on an armistice.

In Panmunjom Chinese Maj. Gen. Hsieh Fang said the Reds' latest counterproposal for supervising a truce prohibits importation of war planes during a truce and therefore guarantees against a buildup of Red air strength.

But he side-stepped a direct answer to a repeated question from Maj. Gen. Claude Ferenbaugh: Did that mean the Reds would not increase "military air capabilities during an armistice?" Each time Hsieh replied with a question of his own.

In the prisoner subcommittee session the Reds revised the casualty figure from Monday night's reported bombing of Kangdong to 20 captured UN troops killed, 14 seriously injured and 40 hurt slightly. The original report was more than 10 killed and 60 injured. The Reds have said they held 1,591 South Koreans and one American at Kangdong.

Taft Said 3-Choice Over Ike In GOP Poll

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16—(AP)— Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio is a three-to-one choice over Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination among GOP national committee members willing to express an opinion.

A poll of the 98 members who represent the 48 states disclosed: Of 43 willing to state how they stand, 31 favor Taft; nine support Eisenhower, two are for Gov. Warren of California, and one backs Harold E. Stassen.

Members are arriving for a national committee meeting beginning Thursday. Western regional GOP officials planned to study their own problems Wednesday.

A similar poll taken at a meeting in Washington a year ago gave Taft 29 votes, Eisenhower 12. Thus Taft is holding his own but apparently Eisenhower has lost strength.

These results came in the face of an announcement by Eisenhower that he is a Republican and is available for the presidential nomination, although he has said he will not participate in preconvention campaigning.

Last year's poll gave Stassen four votes, Warren two and one each to the late Senator Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska, and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

The current canvass reached 85 members. It showed 42, or almost half, are unwilling six months before the GOP national convention to express an opinion either publicly or privately about their party's nominee.

This obviously left a wide field for campaigning among party officials. They ordinarily wield potent influence on the selection of convention delegations from individual states.

Taft and Eisenhower supporters are prepared to undertake that kind of campaigning at the meeting here.

Forty of 56 members who expressed an opinion, said they don't believe any candidate can attain on the first bllot the approximately 600 votes needed for nomination.

This seemed to indicate state party leaders felt (1) Taft does not have his claimed majority of strength among the convention voters and (2) there is not likely to be any Eisenhower sweep such as his rooters have been talking about.

Lausche Says Taft Tale Is Wholly False

COLUMBUS, Jan. 16—(AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche has denied he ever said "after all I did for Bob Taft last year, I don't see why the Tafts would do this to me."

The purported statement by Lausche was in a magazine article about Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) and his brother, Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, who is seeking the Republican nomination for governor of Ohio.

William H. Hessler of Cincinnati wrote in the article which appeared in the Reporter, a fortnightly magazine:

"When he (Lausche) learned that Charles P. Taft was entering the race against him, Gov. Lausche said plaintively: 'After all I did for Bob Taft last year, I don't see why the Tafts would do this to me.' "

In 1950 Lausche did not endorse State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, Democratic candidate for senator against Robert Taft. Once during the campaign he told newsmen he might even vote for Taft. Taft swamped Ferguson by more than 430,000 votes.

British Capture Egyptian Police

TEL EL KEBIR, Egypt, Jan. 16 —(AP)—British troops seized between 120 and 160 Egyptian police in a surprise raid on the twin villages of Tel el Kebir and El Hammada Wednesday. Five Egyptians were killed in the El Hammada fighting, the British said.

Brig. W. L. Steele, describing the villages as "thug strongholds," said he was convinced the police were implicated in "terrorists plans" for periodic attacks on the British Army's biggest ordnance depot nearby in this Suez Canal area.

OSU Sets Up New Plan On Its Gag Rule

COLUMBUS, Jan. 16 — (AP)—All 1,500 faculty members at Ohio State University will be asked to pick up five men for a committee to assure "full expression of different points of view" in public discussions at the university.

The group, called a "committee on evaluation," was set up by the university trustees Dec. 10 when it liberalized its controversial speaker "gag" rule.

The original, which the Faculty Council strongly opposed, required all campus speakers to be screened by University President Howard L. Bevis.

The liberalized rule requires screening by Bevis only if the faculty member, his colleagues, department head and dean aren't satisfied a proposed speaker is loyal and has something to contribute to the university's educational program.

The "committee on evaluation" —consisting of five faculty members, Bevis and three university vice presidents — will "ascertain whether adequate opportunities are being provided for full expression of the different points of view, and whether the nation, and state and the university are being properly served in university public discussions."

She Talked Red; He Gets Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16—(AP)— Expounding on the Communist ideology by one mate is grounds for divorce by the other, Superior Judge Irvin Taplin has ruled.

The court granted the decree to John W. Breathed Jr., 32, from Geraldine Breathed. Breathed testified his wife repeatedly expressed preference for the Communist Party line and attended Leftist meetings.

Here's Truman's Speech In Brief

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 — (AP) In his economic report to Congress Wednesday, President Truman:

Asked $5 billion in new taxation, warned of "dangerous" deficits ahead.

Called for one and a third million more workers, five per cent more output.

Urged two-year-extension and tightening — of mobilization act.

Foresaw "most difficult" defense year ahead, but little hardship.

Sought improved farm price supports to bolster food supplies.

Egypt's King Finally Gets Son He Wanted

CAIRO, Jan. 16—(AP)—Queen Narriman, teen-age second wife of Egypt's King Farouk, gave birth Wednesday to a son—heir to the Nile kindgom's throne.

The boy—born at 1:20 a. m. (EST)—was named Prince Ahmed Fouad after his grandfather, King Fouad I. Palace sources said the queen and her baby both were "doing well."

King Farouk had three daughters by his 10-year marriage to former Queen Farida, whom he divorced in November, 1948. Under an Egyptian constitutional provision, common to all Moslem countries, only males can succeed to the throne.

The king was married last May 6 to Narriman Sadek, commoner daughter of an Egyptian civil servant. The queen celebrated her 18th birthday last Oct. 31. Farouk will be 32 Feb. 11.

Birth of the boy gives the king one of the greatest blessings that can come to a Moslem—a son. Farida's failure to produce a male heir was commonly believed to be the reason for their divorce.

'Bud' Brehmer Is Circleville's Outstanding Young Man Of '51

Robert L. "Bud" Brehmer Jr., 29, was named Circleville's outstanding young man for 1951 Tuesday night at the local Junior Chamber of Commerce birthday anniversary and distinguished service award banquet.

Brehmer is Circleville's first "native son" to receive this outstanding honor.

About 70 Jaycees and guests attended the award dinner held in the First EUB Service Center. Lt. Gov. George Nye of Waverly was featured speaker at the affair.

Selection of distinguished service award winner was a closely guarded secret prior to announcement at the dinner. Only a five-member non-Jaycee selection committee was aware that Brehmer would be so honored. Brehmer, himself, had not even been advised.

The Rev. Carl L. Wilson, pastor of the First EUB church, gave invocation, preceding the dinner served by ladies of the church.

* * *

ROGER H. MAY, Circleville Jaycee president, welcomed members and guests, and Ed Richardson, chairman of the distinguished service award committee, arranging the banquet, introduced guests.

Representative Ed Wallace of Circleville introduced the speaker, Lt. Gov. Nye, who congratulated the local Jaycee organization on its activities in the community.

"You're an active group with lots of pep," Nye said.

He pointed out that Ohioans should be proud of their state and their communities.

"We're living at the crossroads of the nation," he added. "Ohio ranks fifth in value of agriculture products in the country."

Nye emphasized that Ohioans are fortunate in having an abundance of food, clothing and freedom.

Following Nye's address, Leslie D. May, chairman of the DSA selection committee, presented the distinguished service award to Brehmer.

In giving the distinguished award key and certificate, May stressed that candidates were selected on achievement, leadership and service to his community, as well as personal character and ability.

* * *

HE EXPLAINED that the award is not intended as recognition for contributions to the Junior Chamber, its activities or success, and Jaycee membership has no relation to the intent of the award.

"Brehmer not only meets award requirements, but he excels them," May said.

Born in Circleville on Aug. 16, 1922, Brehmer attended public schools in Circleville and later received a degree in chemical engineering from Ohio State university.

Employed by General Electric in Schnectady, N.Y., Brehmer during World War II, was called to Oak Ridge, Tenn., where he worked for three years on atomic energy projects.

Following the war Brehmer returned to his home town where he is associated with his father, Robert L. Brehmer Sr., in Brehmer Greenhouses, 800 North Court street.

In listing Brehmer's many accomplishments, May pointed out his active interest in the Jaycee "Get Out the Vote" campaign.

"I guess 'Bud' did all right, too, as far as votes were concerned," May added.

* * *

BREHMER WAS elected to the Circleville board of education by the largest margin of any candidate in the November election.

Active on the Scioto river clean-up committee, Brehmer also promoted the Pickaway County fair concession locating plan and actively took part in its operation.

He assisted in visitors parking in Ted Lewis Park during Pumpkin Show, and served on the Jaycee Little Miss Pumpkin Show parade committee.

Brehmer is president of the Rotary club, vice district chairman of the Boy Scout Area council, and member of the Circleville Boosters club.

A past president of Jaycees, Brehmer took over the organization following World War II and revitalized the group.

Husband of a Circleville girl, the former Marilyn Lutz, he is the father of three daughters.

May also pointed out that Brehmer "baby-sits" for his wife, so that she can take an active part in Girl Scout council activities.

* * *

BREHMER IS a member of Trinity Lutheran church.

He is a regular Red Cross blood donor and is presently helping to promote the establishment of a Community Chest in Circleville.

Upon receiving the distinguished service award, Brehmer stated that "most of the tribute should be paid to the Jaycees themselves."

Identity of the selection committee was revealed to have been composed of Mr. May, chairman; Judge William Radcliff, Larry Best, John Magill and the Rev. Carl Wilson.

Previous Jaycee DSA winners in Circleville have been Norbert Cochran in 1941, Hal Dean in 1942, Jim Yost in 1946, Ed Amey in 1947, and Steve Brudzinski in 1950.

'Most Difficult' Defense Year Is Ahead, Chief Says

$5 Billion In New Revenue Sought In Economic Message; Better Farm Supports Needed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 — (AP)— President Truman called Wednesday for a 1952 tax increase approaching $5 billion by boosting some rates and plugging loopholes.

In seeking new revenue, the President did not specify whether the burden should be added to business, income, or excise taxes—or all three.

His annual economic message to Congress forecast the "most difficult" year of the armament build-up, large federal deficits, some civilian shortages but few hardships, and a "precarious" price problem.

Mr. Truman fixed two major goals for this "year of strain":

First, a five per cent rise in national output; second, one and a third million more men and women at work.

* * *

HIS WANT-LIST of legislation was long. It began with a two-year extension of the defense production act; the repeal of "weakening" price control amendments; improved farm price supports; stronger curbs on consumer and bank credit; and so on to a total of a dozen laws.

But the shocker, as far as Congress was concerned, was the President's calm demand for the rest of the "10 billion dollar or more" tax raise he requested last session—of which he got only about $5.4 billion.

"I urgently recommend that the Congress, as a minimum, provide additional revenues in the amount by which last year's legislation fell short of my recommendations," he said.

"This can be achieved by eliminating loopholes and special privileges, and by some rate increases."

The President may be more specific about his tax proposals in the budget message, due next Monday, or in a special tax message later.

He was abundantly definite on another point, however—he doesn't want Congress to avoid a tax increase by slashing the spending program. Mr. Truman put it this way:

"A balanced budget, achieved the easy way by sacrificing the defense program and putting the balance of world power in the hands of the Kremlin, would be false economy."

* * *

ONCE THE PEAK of military spending is past—possibly in fiscal 1954—the federal revenues thus bolstered would cover all federal costs, the President said, adding:

"It is important that we return, as quickly as possible during the period of defense mobilization, to a current pay-as-we-go basis for government financing."

Mr. Truman's 12-point legislative program evidently was framed with the hazard of inflation uppermost in mind. He called on Congress to:

1. Renew the Defense Production Act for two years beyond June 30, without watering down the priority and allocation power. He asked these major changes:

Elimination of the Capehart and Herlong amendments of last year which, in Mr. Truman's view, "seriously weakened" price ceilings; restoration of full authority to control consumer easy-payment credit; restoration of beef slaughter controls; and a strengthened system of defense loans, tax benefits and loan guarantees to encourage plant expansion.

2. Continue foreign aid, both military and economic; repeal the defense production act ban on the import of certain foreign goods.

* * *

3. PROVIDE funds for the newly created small defense plants administration. It lacks money both to build a staff for the aiding of small business, and to take prime defense contracts and subcontract them to small firms.

4. Approve the St. Lawrence Seaway and power project and some other development projects.

5. Provide for "needed housing and community facilities" in defense areas.

6. Revise the Taft-Hartley Act so it will not hamper "uninterrupted production." Before Korea, Mr. Truman demanded outright repeal.

7. Repeal the "sliding scale" provisions in the farm price support laws; write a "workable" support program for perishable foods; revise the tax on cooperatives to exempt newly organized farm co-ops. The sliding scale formula, officials fear, may work against the desired expansion of grain and other food production. The support price drops from 90 per cent of parity to 75 per cent when production reaches a certain level.

* * *

FARMERS, therefore, tend to curtail planting. Parity is a formula designed to equalize a farmer's profits with his expenses.

8. Provide "at least enough additional revenues to reach the revenue goal proposed last year, by eliminating loopholes and special privilges, and by tax rate increases."

9. Give the federal reserve power to increase the funds held as "reserves" against loans, thereby limiting bank lending; also provide authority to curb speculation by controlling margins, or down-payments, on commodity exchanges

10. Raise Social Security benefits extend old age insurance to farmers and others; extend unemployment compensation to more workers and enlarge the amount and duration of jobless pay.

11. Approve federal aid to education, both to help meet operating costs and to aid school construction.

12. Authorize federal aid for medical education, and for strengthening local public health services.

Empty Boat Shatters Hope For 45 Seamen

SEATTLE, Jan. 16—(AP)—A grim blow to hope that any of the crewmen from the missing freighter Pennsylvania survive — an empty, drifting lifeboat — has brought a sharp reduction in the scope of air and sea rescue operations.

The lifeboat, sighted Tuesday afternoon from two Coast Guard airplanes, was approximately 600 miles off the Washington coast. An error in computation of position led to an early report that two of the craft has been seen.

With the life boat was debris believed to be cargo from the hold of the Pennsylvania, which last reported it was "down by the bow" 125 miles to the northwest. The ship's radio sent several SOS appeals, then said its "45 persons aboard" were "leaving."

Sighting of the empty lifeboat reduced to a virtual minimum hope that any of the crewmen survived.

Louisiana Election Race Is Close

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 16—(AP)— U. S. Rep. Hale Boggs of New Orleans, backed by Sen. Russell Long holds a slim lead in the race for governor of Louisiana with appeals Judge Robert Kennon of Minden whittling away at his margin.

Former state district Judge Carlos Spaht of Baton Rouge, the hand picked candidate of Gov. Earl K. Long, was running third.

Sen. Long, the son of the late Sen. Huey P. Long, broke with his uncle, Gov. Long, to support Boggs.

National Daylight Saving Time Urged

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 — (AP) — A congressional committee suggests that "a national plan of daylight-saving time" be considered to conserve electric power for the mobilization effort.

The Joint Committee on Defense Production said daylight-saving time would reduce peak loads on power systems by as much as two million kilowatts.

Egypt's King Finally Gets Son He Wanted

CAIRO, Jan. 16—(AP)—Queen Narriman, teen-age second wife of Egypt's King Farouk, gave birth Wednesday to a son—heir to the Nile kindgom's throne.

The boy—born at 1:20 a. m. (EST)—was named Prince Ahmed Fouad after his grandfather, King Fouad I. Palace sources said the queen and her baby both were "doing well."

King Farouk had three daughters by his 10-year marriage to former Queen Farida, whom he divorced in November, 1948. Under an Egyptian constitutional provision, common to all Moslem countries, only males can succeed to the throne.

The king was married last May 6 to Narriman Sadek, commoner daughter of an Egyptian civil servant. The queen celebrated her 18th birthday last Oct. 31. Farouk will be 32 Feb. 11.

Birth of the boy gives the king one of the greatest blessings that can come to a Moslem—a son. Farida's failure to produce a male heir was commonly believed to be the reason for their divorce.

'Bud' Brehmer Is Circleville's Outstanding Young Man Of '51

Robert L. "Bud" Brehmer Jr., 29, was named Circleville's outstanding young man for 1951 Tuesday night at the local Junior Chamber of Commerce birthday anniversary and distinguished service award banquet.

Brehmer is Circleville's first "native son" to receive this outstanding honor.

About 70 Jaycees and guests attended the award dinner held in the First EUB Service Center. Lt. Gov. George Nye of Waverly was featured speaker at the affair.

Selection of distinguished service award winner was a closely guarded secret prior to announcement at the dinner. Only a five-member non-Jaycee selection committee was aware that Brehmer would be so honored. Brehmer, himself, had not even been advised.

The Rev. Carl L. Wilson, pastor of the First EUB church, gave invocation, preceding the dinner served by ladies of the church.

* * *

ROGER H. MAY, Circleville Jaycee president, welcomed members and guests, and Ed Richardson, chairman of the distinguished service award committee, arranging the banquet, introduced guests.

Representative Ed Wallace of Circleville introduced the speaker, Lt. Gov. Nye, who congratulated the local Jaycee organization on its activities in the community.

"You're an active group with lots of pep," Nye said.

He pointed out that Ohioans should be proud of their state and their communities.

"We're living at the crossroads of the nation," he added. "Ohio ranks fifth in value of agriculture products in the country."

Nye emphasized that Ohioans are fortunate in having an abundance of food, clothing and freedom.

Following Nye's address, Leslie D. May, chairman of the DSA selection committee, presented the distinguished service award to Brehmer.

In giving the distinguished award key and certificate, May stressed that candidates were selected on achievement, leadership and service to his community, as well as personal character and ability.

* * *

HE EXPLAINED that the award is not intended as recognition for contributions to the Junior Chamber, its activities or success, and Jaycee membership has no relation to the intent of the award.

"Brehmer not only meets award requirements, but he excels them," May said.

Born in Circleville on Aug. 16, 1922, Brehmer attended public schools in Circleville and later received a degree in chemical engineering from Ohio State university.

Employed by General Electric in Schnectady, N.Y., Brehmer during World War II, was called to Oak Ridge, Tenn., where he worked for three years on atomic energy projects.

Following the war Brehmer returned to his home town where he is associated with his father, Robert L. Brehmer Sr., in Brehmer Greenhouses, 800 North Court street.

In listing Brehmer's many accomplishments, May pointed out his active interest in the Jaycee "Get Out the Vote" campaign.

"I guess 'Bud' did all right, too, as far as votes were concerned," May added.

* * *

BREHMER WAS elected to the Circleville board of education by the largest margin of any candidate in the November election.

Active on the Scioto river clean-up committee, Brehmer also promoted the Pickaway County fair concession locating plan and actively took part in its operation.

He assisted in visitors parking in Ted Lewis Park during Pumpkin Show, and served on the Jaycee Little Miss Pumpkin Show parade committee.

Brehmer is president of the Rotary club, vice district chairman of the Boy Scout Area council, and member of the Circleville Boosters club.

A past president of Jaycees, Brehmer took over the organization following World War II and revitalized the group.

Husband of a Circleville girl, the former Marilyn Lutz, he is the father of three daughters.

May also pointed out that Brehmer "baby-sits" for his wife, so that she can take an active part in Girl Scout council activities.

* * *

BREHMER IS a member of Trinity Lutheran church.

He is a regular Red Cross blood donor and is presently helping to promote the establishment of a Community Chest in Circleville.

Upon receiving the distinguished service award, Brehmer stated that "most of the tribute should be paid to the Jaycees themselves."

Identity of the selection committee was revealed to have been composed of Mr. May, chairman; Judge William Radcliff, Larry Best, John Magill and the Rev. Carl Wilson.

Previous Jaycee DSA winners in Circleville have been Norbert Cochran in 1941, Hal Dean in 1942, Jim Yost in 1946, Ed Amey in 1947, and Steve Brudzinski in 1950.

'Most Difficult' Defense Year Is Ahead, Chief Says

$5 Billion In New Revenue Sought In Economic Message; Better Farm Supports Needed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 — (AP)— President Truman called Wednesday for a 1952 tax increase approaching $5 billion by boosting some rates and plugging loopholes.

In seeking new revenue, the President did not specify whether the burden should be added to business, income, or excise taxes—or all three.

His annual economic message to Congress forecast the "most difficult" year of the armament build-up, large federal deficits, some civilian shortages but few hardships, and a "precarious" price problem.

Mr. Truman fixed two major goals for this "year of strain":

First, a five per cent rise in national output; second, one and a third million more men and women at work.

* * *

HIS WANT - LIST of legislation was long. It began with a two-year extension of the defense production act; the repeal of "weakening" price control amendments; improved farm price supports; stronger curbs on consumer and bank credit; and so on to a total of a dozen laws.

But the shocker, as far as Congress was concerned, was the President's calm demand for the rest of the "10 billion dollar or more" tax raise he requested last session—of which he got only about $5.4 billion.

"I urgently recommend that the Congress, as a minimum, provide additional revenues in the amount by which last year's legislation fell short of my recommendations," he said.

"This can be achieved by eliminating loopholes and special privileges, and by some rate increases."

The President may be more specific about his tax proposals in the budget message, due next Monday, or in a special tax message later.

He was abundantly definite on another point, however—he doesn't want Congress to avoid a tax increase by slashing the spending program. Mr. Truman put it this way:

"A balanced budget, achieved the easy way by sacrificing the defense program and putting the balance of world power in the hands of the Kremlin, would be false economy."

* * *

ONCE THE PEAK of military spending is past—possibly in fiscal 1954—the federal revenues thus bolstered would cover all federal costs, the President said, adding:

"It is important that we return, as quickly as possible during the period of defense mobilization, to a current pay-as-we-go basis for government financing."

Mr. Truman's 12-point legislative program evidently was framed with the hazard of inflation uppermost in mind. He called on Congress to:

1. Renew the Defense Production Act for two years beyond June 30, without watering down the priority and allocation power. He asked these major changes:

Elimination of the Capehart and Herlong amendments of last year which, in Mr. Truman's view, "seriously weakened" price ceilings; restoration of full authority to control consumer easy-payment credit; restoration of beef slaughter controls; and a strengthened system of defense loans, tax benefits and loan guarantees to encourage plant expansion.

2. Continue foreign aid, both military and economic; repeal the defense production act ban on the import of certain foreign goods.

* * *

3. PROVIDE funds for the newly created small defense plants administration. It lacks money both to build a staff for the aiding of small business, and to take prime defense contracts and subcontract them to small firms.

4. Approve the St. Lawrence Seaway and power project and some other development projects.

5. Provide for "needed housing and community facilities" in defense areas.

6. Revise the Taft-Hartley Act so it will not hamper "uninterrupted production." Before Korea, Mr. Truman demanded outright repeal.

7. Repeal the "sliding scale" provisions in the farm price support laws; write a "workable" support program for perishable foods; revise the tax on cooperatives to exempt newly organized farm co-ops. The sliding scale formula, officials fear, may work against the desired expansion of grain and other food production. The support price drops from 90 per cent of parity to 75 per cent when production reaches a certain level.

* * *

FARMERS, therefore, tend to curtail planting. Parity is a formula designed to equalize a farmer's profits with his expenses.

8. Provide "at least enough additional revenues to reach the revenue goal proposed last year, by eliminating loopholes and special privilges, and by tax rate increases."

9. Give the federal reserve power to increase the funds held as "reserves" against loans, thereby limiting bank lending; also provide authority to curb speculation by controlling margins, or down-payments, on commodity exchanges

10. Raise Social Security benefits extend old age insurance to farmers and others; extend unemployment compensation to more workers and enlarge the amount and duration of jobless pay.

11. Approve federal aid to education, both to help meet operating costs and to aid school construction.

12. Authorize federal aid for medical education, and for strengthening local public health services.

Empty Boat Shatters Hope For 45 Seamen

SEATTLE, Jan. 16—(AP)—A grim blow to hope that any of the crewmen from the missing freighter Pennsylvania survive — an empty, drifting lifeboat — has brought a sharp reduction in the scope of air and sea rescue operations.

The lifeboat, sighted Tuesday afternoon from two Coast Guard airplanes, was approximately 600 miles off the Washington coast. An error in computation of position led to an early report that two of the craft has been seen.

With the life boat was debris believed to be cargo from the hold of the Pennsylvania, which last reported it was "down by the bow" 125 miles to the northwest. The ship's radio sent several SOS appeals, then said its "45 persons aboard" were "leaving."

Sighting of the empty lifeboat reduced to a virtual minimum hope that any of the crewmen survived.

Louisiana Election Race Is Close

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 16—(AP)— U. S. Rep. Hale Boggs of New Orleans, backed by Sen. Russell Long holds a slim lead in the race for governor of Louisiana with appeals Judge Robert Kennon of Minden whittling away at his margin.

Former state district Judge Carlos Spaht of Baton Rouge, the hand picked candidate of Gov. Earl K. Long, was running third.

Sen. Long, the son of the late Sen. Huey P. Long, broke with his uncle, Gov. Long, to support Boggs.

National Daylight Saving Time Urged

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 — (AP) — A congressional committee suggests that "a national plan of daylight-saving time" be considered to conserve electric power for the mobilization effort.

The Joint Committee on Defense Production said daylight - saving time would reduce peak loads on power systems by as much as two million kilowatts.

Council Acts On Three Measures In Long Session

In a session which lasted until nearly midnight Tuesday, Circleville city councilmen gave first reading to a proposed zoning change ordinance, adopted a resolution authorizing bids for a new public utilities department truck, and made an appointment to the city's public utilities commission.

Regular meeting time of the lawmakers was delayed while councilmen, en masse, showed interest in local Civilian Defense by attending a program at the high school sponsored by the Registered Nurses organization of Pickaway County.

Given first reading and then referred to council as a whole for investigation was an ordinance changing a Southend district from a B (multiple resident district) to C (commercial district).

The zoning change would affect that district between Clinton street and Abernathy avenue, north of the Pennsylvania railroad tracks and south of the first alley south of Union street.

* * *

THE PROPOSED change was recommended to city council by the city planning commission.

In another action, city councilmen adopted a resolution authorizing the board of public utilities to advertise for bids for a 1½-ton pick-up truck for the department.

The present truck was declared inadequate and trade in on purchase of a new truck was approved.

Council also accepted and placed on record financial reports of the city auditor, and the city department of water and sewage for the year 1951.

Contract between the city of Circleville and the Rural Firefighting Protective association was presented to council, name of second party changed from the Volunteer Fire Protection association of Pickaway County.

The contract entered into by the city last Dec. 1, is in effect until Dec. 1, 1953. It was referred to the council's safety committee for further study.

* * *

REGULATIONS adopted last month by the Ohio Public Health council and passed by the State legislature concerning inspection and licensure of house trailers in the city were handed to the city health department for enforcement.

Councilmen felt that the health department of the city could properly handle licensing of trailers and a tax regulation, following the model set up by the state board of health will be used.

In a measure which caused more uncertainty than objection, councilmen declared vacant a seat on the city public utilities board.

Mayor Ed Amey, present at council meeting, submitted to the lawmakers the name of George H. Fissell to fill the unexpired term on the board of Rom Barnes, who died in November.

Before retiring from office in December, ex-mayor Thurman I. Miller had announced appointment of Harold Defenbaugh to fill out the term, but according to the lawmakers, no record of that appointment had been submitted to council for its approval.

* * *

COUNCILMAN Boyd Horn voiced objection to the move, declaring: "I have nothing against Fissell, you understand, but I think we should give this further study to see if Defenbaugh had received in letter, notice of appointment."

Proposed wage increase measures for water and sewage department workers hinge on a meeting of the public utilities board, which made filling the vacancy an important item.

Council overrode Horn's dissenting vote and approved Fissell's appointment.

Appointments of C. O. Leist as safety director and Dewey Speakman as service director were also announced to council. Both men had been appointed by Amey at an earlier date. They needed no confirmation from council.

Councilman Joe Brink told lawmakers that repairs on Barnes and Weldon avenues and York street were needed, and council instructed Service Director Speakman to make needed street repairs.

The accident happened at 5 a. m. when the northbound auto struck the cement abutment.

* * *

TALMADGE FANNIN was treated in Berger hospital for a lacerated forehead and fractured ribs, while his son was treated for a fractured left knee, fractured jaw and lacerated left knee.

The front end of the convertible in which the pair rode was completely demolished in the crash.

British Rejecting Ouster By Iran

TEHRAN, Jan. 16 — (AP)—Britain has bluntly rejected an Iranian demand to close all nine British consulates in the country by Monday.

The Iranians made the demand Saturday in a note accusing Britain of "interference of British government officials in the domestic affairs of Iran." Premier Mohammed Mossadegh said the closure order would stand as long as he headed the government.

Britain's reply invoked an 1857 treaty between the two countries permitting Britain to maintain consulates anywhere in Iran that other powers have consulates.

2 Migs Damaged In Sabre Duels

SEOUL, Jan. 16 — (AP)—Out-numbered U. S. F-86 Sabrejets damaged two Communist Mig-15s Wednesday in two flashing air battles high over Northwest Korea.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said the first fight involved 36 Sabres and 80 Migs. Later, 22 F-86s battled the same flight of Communist planes. One Mig was damaged in each battle. U. S. losses, if any, were not revealed.

Infantrymen huddled in their foxholes as subfreezing weather covered the 145-mile battlefront. Action was confined to small raiding operations.

Big Relief Job Here In Case Of Atomic Attack

In case of an atomic attack in Central Ohio the biggest problem here will be relief work, Virgil Sexton, Fayette County Civilian Defense director told an audience at Circleville high school Tuesday night.

The special CD program was sponsored by the Registered Nurses organization of Pickaway County, in an effort to instruct local residents in civilian defense needs.

Members of Circleville city council, along with Mayor Ed Amey and other city officials were in attendance at the meeting.

Ben Gordon, council president, is civilian defense director for Pickaway County.

"Thousands of refugees from target areas will be streaming into this locality in case of atomic attack," Sexton pointed out.

He also briefly explained the CD setup in neighboring Fayette County.

* * *

WASHINGTON C. H. is divided into city wards, and precincts, with ward captains, precinct captains and block wardens appointed to serve during an emergency.

"Fayette County is basically ready to move right now, in case of an attack," he said.

He explained that residents should notify block wardens of their place of shelter during an attack.

Food, water and a battery radio should also be on hand, in case utilities are disrupted.

City fire and police department as well as sheriff's office will be called into service as fire fighting and rescue squads during an attack.

"But its the duty of every citizen to try to help themselves," Sexton said.

Role of women in CD plans was also emphasized.

Women should be trained in first aid, it was explained. Red Cross aim is for training at least one person in every family in first aid procedure.

Two CD films, "Modern Minute Man," and "Survival Under Atomic Attack" were also shown.

Council Acts On Three Measures In Long Session

In a session which lasted until nearly midnight Tuesday, Circleville city councilmen gave first reading to a proposed zoning change ordinance, adopted a resolution authorizing bids for a new public utilities department truck, and made an appointment to the city's public utilities commission.

Regular meeting time of the lawmakers was delayed while councilmen, en masse, showed interest in local Civilian Defense by attending a program at the high school sponsored by the Registered Nurses organization of Pickaway County.

Given first reading and then referred to council as a whole for investigation was an ordinance changing a Southend district from a B (multiple resident district) to C (commercial district).

The zoning change would affect that district between Clinton street and Abernathy avenue, north of the Pennsylvania railroad tracks and south of the first alley south of Union street.

* * *

THE PROPOSED change was recommended to city council by the city planning commission.

In another action, city councilmen adopted a resolution authorizing the board of public utilities to advertise for bids for a 1½-ton pick-up truck for the department.

The present truck was declared inadequate and trade in on purchase of a new truck was approved.

Council also accepted and placed on record financial reports of the city auditor, and the city department of water and sewage for the year 1951.

Contract between the city of Circleville and the Rural Firefighting Protective association was presented to council, name of second party changed from the Volunteer Fire Protection association of Pickaway County.

The contract entered into by the city last Dec. 1, is in effect until Dec. 1, 1953. It was referred to the council's safety committee for further study.

* * *

REGULATIONS adopted last month by the Ohio Public Health council and passed by the State legislature concerning inspection and licensure of house trailers in the city were handed to the city health department for enforcement.

Councilmen felt that the health department of the city could properly handle licensing of trailers and a tax regulation, following the model set up by the state board of health will be used.

In a measure which caused more uncertainty than objection, councilmen declared vacant a seat on the city public utilities board.

Mayor Ed Amey, present at council meeting, submitted to the lawmakers the name of George H. Fissell to fill the unexpired term on the board of Rom Barnes, who died in November.

Before retiring from office in December, ex-mayor Thurman I. Miller had announced appointment of Harold Defenbaugh to fill out the term, but according to the lawmakers, no record of that appointment had been submitted to council for its approval.

* * *

COUNCILMAN Boyd Horn voiced objection to the move, declaring: "I have nothing against Fissell, you understand, but I think we should give this further study to see if Defenbaugh had received in letter, notice of appointment."

Proposed wage increase measures for water and sewage department workers hinge on a meeting of the public utilities board, which made filling the vacancy an important item.

Council overrode Horn's dissenting vote and approved Fissell's appointment.

Appointments of C. O. Leist as safety director and Dewey Speakman as service director were also announced to council. Both men had been appointed by Amey at an earlier date. They needed no confirmation from council.

Councilman Joe Brink told lawmakers that repairs on Barnes and Weldon avenues and York street were needed, and council instructed Service Director Speakman to make needed street repairs.

The accident happened at 5 a. m. when the northbound auto struck the cement abutment.

* * *

The front end of the convertible in which the pair rode was completely demolished in the crash.

British Rejecting Ouster By Iran

TEHRAN, Jan. 16 — (AP)—Britain has bluntly rejected an Iranian demand to close all nine British consulates in the country by Monday.

The Iranians made the demand Saturday in a note accusing Britain of "interference of British government officials in the domestic affairs of Iran." Premier Mohammed Mossadegh said the closure order would stand as long as he headed the government.

Britain's reply invoked an 1857 treaty between the two countries permitting Britain to maintain consulates anywhere in Iran that other powers have consulates.

2 Migs Damaged In Sabre Duels

SEOUL, Jan. 16 — (AP)—Out-numbered U. S. F-86 Sabrejets damaged two Communist Mig-15s Wednesday in two flashing air battles high over Northwest Korea.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said the first fight involved 36 Sabres and 80 Migs. Later, 22 F-86s battled the same flight of Communist planes. One Mig was damaged in each battle. U. S. losses, if any, were not revealed.

Big Relief Job Here In Case Of Atomic Attack

In case of an atomic attack in Central Ohio the biggest problem here will be relief work, Virgil Sexton, Fayette County Civilian Defense director told an audience at Circleville high school Tuesday night.

The special CD program was sponsored by the Registered Nurses organization of Pickaway County, in an effort to instruct local residents in civilian defense needs.

Members of Circleville city council, along with Mayor Ed Amey and other city officials were in attendance at the meeting.

Ben Gordon, council president, is civilian defense director for Pickaway County.

"Thousands of refugees from target areas will be streaming into this locality in case of atomic attack," Sexton pointed out.

He also briefly explained the CD setup in neighboring Fayette County.

* * *

WASHINGTON C. H. is divided into city wards, and precincts, with ward captains, precinct captains and block wardens appointed to serve during an emergency.

"Fayette County is basically ready to move right now, in case of an attack," he said.

He explained that residents should notify block wardens of their place of shelter during an attack.

Food, water and a battery radio should also be on hand, in case utilities are disrupted.

City fire and police department as well as sheriff's office will be called into service as fire fighting and rescue squads during an attack.

"But its the duty of every citizen to try to help themselves," Sexton said.

Role of women in CD plans was also emphasized.

Women should be trained in first aid, it was explained. Red Cross aim is for training at least one person in every family in first aid procedure.

Two CD films, "Modern Minute Man," and "Survival Under Atomic Attack" were also shown.

Steelmakers Now Face Big Problems

Deal With British Said To Be Major Item Among 'Musts'

NEW YORK, Jan. 16—(AP)—Steelmakers say they now are faced with a triple problem as they try to satisfy everybody.

1. They are to be asked to furnish more steel to our British allies, while American consumers are being rationed further to aid the American defense effort.

2. The new demand comes at a time when the steel mills—recently setting record production marks—are so short of scrap that some furnaces are shut down for lack of the raw material to make steel.

3. Workers are asking for wage increases which the owners contend cannot be met without a price hike, which requires government consent.

The deal with the British, expected to be announced this week, is one of necessity on both dides.

* * *

AMERICAN defense chiefs feel this country needs aluminum and tin even more than it needs steel just now.

So the British are going to turn over to us the options they hold on Canadian aluminum—some say almost 50,000 tons. And the British are going to turn over Malayan tin, presumably at a price agreeable to Washington.

In return, the United States will supply London with perhaps 400,000 tons of American steel. This is no great percentage of American production. Last year we produced 105 million tons.

A similar steel for aluminum swap was made last fall, arousing some criticism here.

The new deal, moreover, comes at a time when American steel needs are accented by a sharp second-quarter cutback in use of steel for home building, auto production, and for home appliances and other civilian goods, with further unemployment in these industried feared.

But the British need steel even more, they say. Last year, their production dropped 654,200 tons from the year before, and they turned out only 15,638,500 tons. They lay the drop to the scarcity of iron ore and scrap iron. They hope to get more scrap from Germany soon.

The British want the steel, not only for their rearmament effort, but also to make more goods for export in an attempt to reverse the steady drain on their gold and dollar reserves that has brought on another crisis there.

He claimed a property right in the machines and questioned constitutionality of the new law. But the law passed its first court test. The Champaign County common pleas court ruled against Dodson.

Phone Firms To Be More Specific

Public To Be Told Just How Much Next Increase Will Be

COLUMBUS, Jan. 16 — (AP)—The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has announced a policy that makes telephone companies give the public more specific information on requested rate increases.

Companies seeking higher rates always have had to advertise their application in newspapers their subscribers read. But now the commission requires the company to include specific new rates the company wants.

Robert L. Moulton, commission chairman, explained the move thusly:

"The commission acted in this manner so the general public could learn more about the terms of increases sought. Previously, there was absolutely no information in the public notices concerning any requested rate increases."

But now the legal notices must include new charges proposed for single and multiple party line services to business and home users, both in municipal and rural areas. The requested increases for telephone extensions must be given.

* * *

MOULTON pointed out all companies would not have the same services, and notices thus would vary from company to company. Companies seeking higher rates must publish legal notices once a week for three weeks.

The new notices in an average case will be about twice as long as the old ones, said Paul Deaton, commission secretary. He added the commission did not require a lengthy list of proposed rates or inclusion of the old rates in the notices because that might put an undue burden on small companies.

The latest telephone company to ask the commission for authority to raise its rates is the Trail Run telephone company which serves several communities and rural sections of Monroe and Washington Counties. The request filed did not include exact increases asked.

U.S. Stamp Tags 'Known Gambler'

CINCINNATI, Jan. 16 — (AP)—A Cincinnati police court judge has ruled that ownership of a federal gambling stamp is sufficient to bring about a conviction on a charge of being a known gambler.

Judge Daniel G. Handley gave the ruling Tuesday as he fined Doc Brownlee, 56, $100 and costs. Brownlee said he would not appeal.

Judge Handley agreed with a contention by City Prosecutor Robert Paul that purchase of the $50 federal stamp constitutes an acknowledgement that gambling is being used as a means of livelihood.

Steelmakers Now Face Big Problems

Deal With British Said To Be Major Item Among 'Musts'

NEW YORK, Jan. 16—(AP)—Steelmakers say they now are faced with a triple problem as they try to satisfy everybody.

1. They are to be asked to furnish more steel to our British allies, while American consumers are being rationed further to aid the American defense effort.

2. The new demand comes at a time when the steel mills—recently setting record production marks —are so short of scrap that some furnaces are shut down for lack of the raw material to make steel.

3. Workers are asking for wage increases which the owners contend cannot be met without a price hike, which requires government consent.

The deal with the British, expected to be announced this week, is one of necessity on both dides.

* * *

AMERICAN defense chiefs feel this country needs aluminum and tin even more than it needs steel just now.

So the British are going to turn over to us the options they hold on Canadian aluminum—some say almost 50,000 tons. And the British are going to turn over Malayan tin, presumably at a price agreeable to Washington.

In return, the United States will supply London with perhaps 400,000 tons of American steel. This is no great percentage of American production. Last year we produced 105 million tons.

A similar steel for aluminum swap was made last fall, arousing some criticism here.

The new deal, moreover, comes at a time when American steel needs are accented by a sharp second-quarter cutback in use of steel for home building, auto production, and for home appliances and other civilian goods, with further unemployment in these industried feared.

But the British need steel even more, they say. Last year, their production dropped 654,200 tons from the year before, and they turned out only 15,638,500 tons. They lay the drop to the scarcity of iron ore and scrap iron. They hope to get more scrap from Germany soon.

The British want the steel, not only for their rearmament effort, but also to make more goods for export in an attempt to reverse the steady drain on their gold and dollar reserves that has brought on another crisis there.

Decision On Slots To Be Appealed

URBANA, Jan. 16—(AP)—Attorney Arthur A. Gurklies says he will take the slot machine decision against Albert L. Dodson of the Urbana Amusement Co. to the court of appeals.

When the law became effective making ownership, display or transportation of slots in Ohio a felony, Dodson got temporary injunctions restraining officers from seizing his machines, worth $10,000.

He claimed a property right in the machines and questioned constitutionality of the new law. But the law passed its first court test. The Champaign County common pleas court ruled against Dodson.

Bald Eagle Killed

ASHTABULA, Jan. 16—(AP)—Authorities are seeking clews to the identity of the shotgun-killer of a bald eagle, symbol of the United States. The eagle, found on L. E. Crofoot's farm, weighed 13½ pounds and had a six-foot, three-inch wingspread. The rare bird is protected by federal law.

Kettering Better

DAYTON, Jan. 16—(AP)—Condition of Charles F. Kettering, 75, was reported "much improved" Tuesday after the noted inventor underwent surgery performed by a specialist in urology.

Fall Kills Man

MIDDLETOWN, Jan. 16—(AP)—Injuries suffered in a 30-foot fall were fatal Tuesday to Bill Spaulding, 50, of West Elkton, who fell from a utility pole here.

DAYTON, Jan. 16—(AP)—Harry H. Johnson, 83, was killed Tuesday when he fell down steps at a filling station in nearby West Carrollton.

Phone Firms To Be More Specific

Public To Be Told Just How Much Next Increase Will Be

COLUMBUS, Jan. 16 — (AP)—The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has announced a policy that makes telephone companies give the public more specific information on requested rate increases.

Companies seeking higher rates always have had to advertise their application in newspapers their subscribers read. But now the commission requires the company to include specific new rates the company wants.

Robert L. Moulton, commission chairman, explained the move thusly:

"The commission acted in this manner so the general public could learn more about the terms of increases sought. Previously, there was absolutely no information in the public notices concerning any requested rate increases."

But now the legal notices must include new charges proposed for single and multiple party line services to business and home users, both in municipal and rural areas. The requested increases for telephone extensions must be given.

• • •

MOULTON pointed out all companies would not have the same services, and notices thus would vary from company to company. Companies seeking higher rates must publish legal notices once a week for three weeks.

The new notices in an average case will be about twice as long as the old ones, said Paul Deaton, commission secretary. He added the commission did not require a lengthy list of proposed rates or inclusion of the old rates in the notices because that might put an undue burden on small companies.

The latest telephone company to ask the commission for authority to raise its rates is the Trail Run telephone company which serves several communities and rural sections of Monroe and Washington Counties. The request filed did not include exact increases asked.

U.S. Stamp Tags 'Known Gambler'

CINCINNATI, Jan. 16 — (AP)—A Cincinnati police court judge has ruled that ownership of a federal gambling stamp is sufficient to bring about a conviction on a charge of being a known gambler.

Judge Daniel G. Handley gave the ruling Tuesday as he fined Doc Brownlee, 56, $100 and costs. Brownlee said he would not appeal.

Judge Handley agreed with a contention by City Prosecutor Robert Paul that purchase of the $50 federal stamp constitutes an acknowledgement that gambling is being used as a means of livelihood.

Coed To Be Cited

Ironton Promises Cleanup Of Vice

IRONTON, Jan. 16 — (AP)—Every vice house in Ironton will be padlocked, City Solicitor Homer Edwards promised Tuesday, adding "I wouldn't be a bit surprised to see some new faces in the police department."

Edwards made the promise in the wake of a story by Reporter Don Perry of the Huntington, W. Va., Herald-Dispatch that he (Perry) bought illegal whisky, gambled and was propositioned by a street walker early Sunday morning within shouting distance of Ironton police headquarters. Local police reported last Friday that the city's red light district was "all dark."

Mouse In Coke Costs Firm $700

CATLETTSBURG, Ky., Jan. 16 —(AP)—Mrs. Carrie Carter of South Point, O., was awarded $700 by a circuit court jury Tuesday after she found a mouse in a bottle of Coca Cola she bought in Boyd County, Ky., on Feb. 4, 1950.

She asked—and received from the Ashland, Ky., Coca Cola Bottling Co.—$500 compensation for physical and mental suffering, and $200 to cover medical expenses.

PRACTICAL DIPLOMACY

MAJ. HERMAN J. SMITH, member of the Fifth air force in Korea, is a clothing merchant at Ponca City, Okla., in private life. He became so concerned over the plight of Korean refugees for lack of warm clothing he asked his wife to go through the stock in the Ponca City establishment and send him all articles suitable for winter wear.

When the word got around everybody wanted to get in the act. Public schools, civic clubs, hundreds of individuals, responded with the result that 9,000 such items were sent to Korea. Seventy-six large bundles already have gone over, and the tide is still rising.

Winter clothing for children, warm overcoats for adults, and thousands of other items are being distributed under Major Smith's supervision. They go to orphans, disabled soldiers, refugees—anyone who is cold. "You can drain the treasury of the United States, and not do democracy as much good as we are doing here," Major Smith declares.

He is visiting orphanages and refugee camps outside the city of Seoul, distributing the clothing directly from the people of the United States to those who are suffering from the ravages of a cruel war.

Here is an example of practical diplomacy which is proving more effective than any move possible by the State Department, which must bear the label of government. It brings to the Korean people proof that the people of America want to help them, not for political reasons but from the hearts of a sympathetic nation.

WHY NOT TRY THIS?

LIEUT GEN. Albert C. Wedemeyer, former chief of U.S. Army forces in China, is in favor of giving Stalin a big dose of his own medicine. Before his retirement General Wedemeyer had ample opportunity to learn Russian methods in China and elsewhere.

How the Russians operate underground, with guerillas and spies and otherwise, became apparent to the general. He urges the United States to operate similarly — to take the lead in training a huge anti-Communist underground as a major step toward peace.

General Wedemeyer believes such action by the U.S. would arouse the victims of the Kremlin to resistance, weaken the reliability of Russian conscripts and threaten Stalin from within. Such methods have proven effective for Stalin, aiding greatly in his subjugation of peoples who otherwise might have had the strength and willingness to resist.

General Wedemeyer would organize, train and equip large anti-Communist forces in Formosa and elsewhere in the Far East to meet Russia on its own terms. The effect, he believes, would be to win over those who now are forced to serve Stalin through fear.

If war is to go underground, it seems the course of folly for the United States to ignore the trend.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Some time ago, I wrote an article about schools, teachers and such matters and received quite a large mail in response to it. Some parents and teachers agreed with me; most teachers and school administrators were very annoyed that one so ignorant as I, should presume to discuss education.

Probably their objection arises from the fact that I do not have a Ph.D. from Teachers College. However, as a father of three children, two of whom are still involved in the process of what is called education, I stand on my rights to discuss their intellectual and spiritual fate; and as one who is taxed in two places for schools to which he does not send his children, preferring to pay additionally for that commodity, I have some rights left, I hope.

Looking through the decisions of various courts on the rights of teachers, I came across the very interesting case of McDowell V. Board of Education of City of New York. In 1918, Mary S. McDowell, a Quaker and a Latin teacher, took the position:

". . .She would not uphold the country in forcibly resisting invasion; she did not want to help the government of the United States in carrying on the present war; she would not urge her pupils to support the war, to perform Red Cross services or to buy thrift stamps. . ."

She was charged with conduct unbecoming a teacher and subsequently discharged from her position. She went to court. Justice Eugene A. Philbin in October, 1918, ruled:

"The petitioner was not dismissed because she is a Quaker. It has simply been proved that certain views and beliefs, which she declares are based upon her religion prevent her from properly discharging the duty she assumed. Where a person agrees with the State to perform a public duty, she will not be excused from performance according to law merely because her religion forbids her doing so. While the petitioner may be entitled to the greatest respect for her adherence to her faith, she cannot be permitted because of it to act in a manner inconsistent with the peace and safety of the State."

This decision is applicable to many cases which arise today involving a conflict between private conscience and public policy. A Communist, a pro-Russian, an anti-nationalist, a believer in world government has a right to private judgment and the pursuit of conscience. But does he also have a right to corrupt your child?

The long quarrel over Bible teaching in American schools arose not over the rejection of religion but over the varieties of texts. Each sect regarded the others' translations as false and in the end made political battle about it. Thus, the most valuable book in our language was thrown out of the schools to please many who knew neither Hebrew nor Greek and could therefore not be sure which translation is the more accurate.

Similarly, it now appears that the Christian Scientists object to references concerning death by germ, virus and bacteria as offensive to their religion. Were there enough Confucians to vote in elections, it might be that the astronomers would have to change from the solar to the lunar calendar. How far are we to go in permitting education to be a compromise among all the varieties of sects? There are more than 260 religious groups in this country, each of which might bring pressures to bear, to say nothing of the A.F. of L., the C.I.O., the N.A.M., and the A.S.P.C.A.

Yet, the members of each sect, group, association, party, are entitled to freedom of conscience. Thus, the Communist claims that he has an absolute right under the Constitution to teach according to his judgment, but when a teacher wishes to

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

"I REMEMBER NOW," Phil told Virginia as he recalled how Barth had stood shirtless debating whether to go down and speak to the church janitor dressed like that.

"You should. The simply delicious way he threw back his shoulders like a man who has finally made a great decision, and then strode down that driveway. It was so—so human. We simply loved it."

"Yes. Sure, I remember. He came back up with the bearing of a general who had conquered a continent."

"But he never saw what we saw. And that was the way the shade of the Peebles kitchen window moved. I don't know whether Minnie ever said anything, but if she did I know what it would be. 'Those Moores! They've got our minister running around half-naked, too.'" And she smiled, but faintly.

He lumbered to his feet, shouting protests at her.

"Thanks," said Virginia quietly, when he had subsided. "I feel better, too. But that's what I mean when I say I think we're hurting the people we care most about."

He was silent a moment. Then, "And you feel going to church might square it all?"

Virginia shook her head. "No. Just that, no. Somehow I don't."

* * *

Joe gave Edna her ticket and then let someone push between him and her at the entrance door. He always did this. Just as he always led the way, as if they weren't together, up to the cheaper balcony seats where none of his friends would ever be but where he said he liked to sit because he could smoke there; and just as he always said, when the show was over, "Excuse me a minute. I'll meet you outside."

He did not want to be seen with her. It was as plain as the nose on his face. But Edna accepted the arrangement, in spite of its insult to her pride, because if she made any complaint he might not take her at all. He might not take her anywhere. He might stop seeing her altogether.

Joe was a tough customer. He would laugh and carry on with her and think she was cute and all that, but he wasn't going to get caught. He could say to her, as easy as not, "Look, baby, it's this way or not at all. See?" And then where would she be?

No. Keeping still—taking it—she could pretend to herself that he was protecting her rather than himself. Because of Mike. She had let Joe know Michael Flynn had an interest in her, and it was because Joe did not want to stir Mike up that he was so careful.

But she knew in her heart the real reason was that Joe did not care as much as she did. She was not the golden opportunity to him that he was to her. Joe could forget her for weeks at a stretch, while all that time she never once forgot him. And then he would meet her and take her somewhere—to the Rustic Cabin for dancing, over to New York to a show, or just to Dizzy Dan's to drink and talk—and hope would spring up in her again, and she would forgive him.

Well, all right. But she wasn't as crazy about him as he thought she was. In the end, no matter what, she was going to do the best thing for Edna Borowski. Any trouble and Pop would throw her right out on her ear on the street. Though she hated the flat she called home over the drugstore, with its hot small rooms where her imbecile crippled brother sat day after day in his wheel chair playing endlessly with a piece of string, it was, nevertheless, her only refuge until she married.

There was Mike, too. Any trouble and Mike would be through with her. And Mike she must keep in the background of her life until she saw how this business with Joe was coming out.

She sat now waiting for Joe to return from downstairs with a bag of popcorn. She had on her new mouton lamb fur coat, and she had washed her hair this afternoon, and her red plaid wool dress was as smart as anybody's. She knew she looked nice. As nice as any of his friends. His glance had told her so. Yet, in spite of that, a familiar anger was bubbling and seething within her. Anger at his shame of her. She was as good as he! Maybe he had been to college, but it didn't make him any different from her. He liked the same things, laughed at the same jokes, enjoyed the same places. She didn't feel with him the way she did with Mr. Kent, for instance. He was different and no mistake. Cut out of another piece of cloth. But with Joe she felt as easy as she did with Mike. And she was getting tired of his not acknowledging it. What if he did live up on the hill? What if he did have a lot of money? She crossed one knee over the other, and her foot in its smart high-heeled pump began to swing impatiently against the balcony railing in front of her.

In June she would graduate, she was thinking, and then she would have to go to work somewhere. Only she didn't want to go to work. She wanted to get married instead. But she wasn't making any progress toward her goal. Not a bit. Why? Joe didn't have any special girl. She would have heard about it if he had. How long, then, was she going to have to drift along this way getting nowhere?

Maybe she ought to speak to him. Maybe she ought to say, "Look, Joe, I'm not going to sneak around with you any more." In the beginning she hadn't dared anything as bold as that, but wasn't her hold on him a little stronger now than then? She didn't know. She didn't know. She could get him pretty wild but—she shook her head.

What a triumph it would be if she could only go home in the near future with a big diamond blazing on her left hand and show it to Pop. There'd be no more of his banging on the table with his clenched hairy fist and shouting at her the way he did. There'd be no more having to look at George day after day with the wet dribble at the corner of his mouth and his slipping vacant smile. And there'd be no more impatient pity for Ma, whose dark-ringed eyes and silent hopeless suffering haunted her. Oh, she'd be generous with them—if she got Joe. She wouldn't forget them. But she wouldn't have to be there any more—where she had never felt she belonged, anyway.

Sometimes the desire to get free of it was a frenzy within her so that she would be willing—almost—to forget Joe and marry Mike. But marrying Mike wouldn't take her far enough away. She would still be there right next door. Or maybe if they could get one of those veterans' houses down by the brook . . . But even if they did, he would go back every day to see his folks, and she would have to go, too., No. Not Mike. Not yet. Her Pop wanted her to better herself, anyway. That's why he had made her stick at school. And that was why he pounded on the table and yelled at her when her report card wasn't good. He wanted her to graduate and go on up in the world. He was only against Joe because he was afraid there would be no diamond—and no wedding ring, either.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

New officers were installed at the regular session of Star Grange. Francis Furniss was named master.

Mrs. George D. McDowell and Mrs. Paul Cromley presented a unique "Calendar Program" at the meeting of the Ashville Community Garden club with Mrs. Roger Hedges of Ashville.

Miss Loretta McGinnis of Columbus was a guest of her sister, Mrs. Will Mason of North Court street.

Try, Stop Me

John Straley tells of a Hollywood agent who hooked a client for a thirteen - week television series, then was faced with the problem of providing scripts. A friend suggested, "The Bible's popular this year. Why don't you dramatize something like the Ten Commandments?" "Great idea," agreed the agent, "but you forget I got to supply this client with thirteen programs—not ten. Now the problem is: where can we dig up some guy—not too expensive—who can turn out three extra Commandments for us?"

A prominent and pulchritudinous starlet in Hollywood was discovered gazing blankly into space by Sid Skolsky. "Why the depression?" asked Sid. The starlet sighed deeply, then explained, "My analyst just told me I'm really in love with my father. What'll I do, Sid? He's a married man!"

Parents Protest Doing Homework For Children

By Peter Edson
(For Hal Boyle)

WASHINGTON—(AP)—If the society for the Protection of Parents from School Homework will please come to order, your president will get on with his report.

Frankly, the situation is not good. All over the country parents are tottering under the burden of writing essays on the robin or trying to solve obscure arithmetic problems.

The U. S. Office of Education has no statistics on how many hours parents spend each year on their children's homework.

But a fellow I talked to there said he had a pretty good idea.

"Plenty," he said.

I realized I had a potential member of our society.

"What is your hardest subject?" I asked sympathetically.

"Latin," he said.

"Mine's mathematics," I said.

Actually, the real evil behind doing homework for children often has been overlooked.

Moralists have attacked it on the grounds that a child should do his own homework, and not palm it off on his parents.

That may be true. But I suspect the argument often is used by people who can't do the homework, and therefore hide behind their morality.

I think a more honest approach is this: To do a child's homework tears down the final shred of respect for his parents' ability.

By the time a youngster is a year and a half old, he has begun to think for himself. If he's smart at all—and they all seem smart nowadays—he has us parents pretty well sized up as frauds who rarely have the courage to carry out the threats we make.

In a few fields, however, the parents linger on as something of an authority. True, as the father of four girls, I have to skulk around the fringes of most conversations at our house.

My opinions are worthless on such subjects as (A) how much lipstick should a 14 - year - old wear? (B) how long should a girl's hair be? And (C) are blond boys cuter than dark haired boys? (My girls say blond boys. I'm dark haired myself).

But in one field I always held my own. If a youngster came in with a school problem, Mrs. E. would say sweetly, "take it to your father, dear. He knows everything."

It was simple, for a time. But this year the 14-year-old entered high school and I had to work out various stalls for time.

Such as: "This is something you should learn for yourself. Look it up in the encyclopedia so that next time you'll be sure to know it."

Last week the inevitable blow fell. My daughter came in with:

By HAL BOYLE

"Plane A starts from Airport S at 8 a. m. flying 150 mph. At 9:30 a. m., Plane B starts after A on the same track flying 250 mph. How long will it take B to overtake A?"

"Looks simple," I said, lying hopefully.

Well, I wrestled that problem until algebraic equations covered the living room floor. I mentally flew Plane A from Airport S, and then hurried back and took off in Plane B, until I was airsick.

Finally, hours overdue and given up for lost, I checked in with the answer. Well, anyway, an answer. It was too late. Everyone knew by then that I didn't know any more algebra than a goat.

What has happened to me has happened to millions. So, parents of the world, unite! Join our protective society. Stand firm behind our slogan: "No more homework!"

It's our only hope.

PRACTICAL DIPLOMACY

MAJ. HERMAN J. SMITH, member of the Fifth air force in Korea, is a clothing merchant at Ponca City, Okla., in private life. He became so concerned over the plight of Korean refugees for lack of warm clothing he asked his wife to go through the stock in the Ponca City establishment and send him all articles suitable for winter wear.

When the word got around everybody wanted to get in the act. Public schools, civic clubs, hundreds of individuals, responded with the result that 9,000 such items were sent to Korea. Seventy-six large bundles already have gone over, and the tide is still rising.

Winter clothing for children, warm overcoats for adults, and thousands of other items are being distributed under Major Smith's supervision. They go to orphans, disabled soldiers, refugees—anyone who is cold. "You can drain the treasury of the United States, and not do democracy as much good as we are doing here," Major Smith declares.

He is visiting orphanages and refugee camps outside the city of Seoul, distributing the clothing directly from the people of the United States to those who are suffering from the ravages of a cruel war.

Here is an example of practical diplomacy which is proving more effective than any move possible by the State Department, which must bear the label of government. It brings to the Korean people proof that the people of America want to help them, not for political reasons but from the hearts of a sympathetic nation.

WHY NOT TRY THIS?

LIEUT GEN. Albert C. Wedemeyer, former chief of U.S. Army forces in China, is in favor of giving Stalin a big dose of his own medicine. Before his retirement General Wedemeyer had ample opportunity to learn Russian methods in China and elsewhere.

How the Russians operate underground, with guerillas and spies and otherwise, became apparent to the general. He urges the United States to operate similarly — to take the lead in training a huge anti-Communist underground as a major step toward peace.

General Wedemeyer believes such action by the U.S. would arouse the victims of the Kremlin to resistance, weaken the reliability of Russian conscripts and threaten Stalin from within. Such methods have proven effective for Stalin, aiding greatly in his subjugation of peoples who otherwise might have had the strength and willingness to resist.

General Wedemeyer would organize, train and equip large anti-Communist forces in Formosa and elsewhere in the Far East to meet Russia on its own terms. The effect, he believes, would be to win over those who now are forced to serve Stalin through fear.

If war is to go underground, it seems the course of folly for the United States to ignore the trend.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Some time ago, I wrote an article about schools, teachers and such matters and received quite a large mail in response to it. Some parents and teachers agreed with me; most teachers and school administrators were very annoyed that one so ignorant as I, should presume to discuss education.

Probably their objection arises from the fact that I do not have a Ph.D. from Teachers College. However, as a father of three children, two of whom are still involved in the process of what is called education, I stand on my rights to discuss their intellectual and spiritual fate; and as one who is taxed in two places for schools to which he does not send his children, preferring to pay additionally for that commodity, I have some rights left, I hope.

Looking through the decisions of various courts on the rights of teachers, I came across the very interesting case of McDowell V. Board of Education of City of New York. In 1918, Mary S. McDowell, a Quaker and a Latin teacher, took the position:

". . .She would not uphold the country in forcibly resisting invasion; she did not want to help the government of the United States in carrying on the present war; she would not urge her pupils to support the war, to perform Red Cross services or to buy thrift stamps. . ."

She was charged with conduct unbecoming a teacher and subsequently discharged from her position. She went to court. Justice Eugene A. Philbin in October, 1918, ruled:

"The petitioner was not dismissed because she is a Quaker. It has simply been proved that certain views and beliefs, which she declares are based upon her religion prevent her from properly discharging the duty she assumed. Where a person agrees with the State to perform a public duty, she will not be excused from performance according to law merely because her religion forbids her doing so. While the petitioner may be entitled to the greatest respect for her adherence to her faith, she cannot be permitted because of it to act in a manner inconsistent with the peace and safety of the State."

This decision is applicable to many cases which arise today involving a conflict between private conscience and public policy. A Communist, a pro-Russian, an anti-nationalist, a believer in world government has a right to private judgment and the pursuit of conscience. But does he also have a right to corrupt your child?

The long quarrel over Bible teaching in American schools arose not over the rejection of religion but over the varieties of texts. Each sect regarded the others' translations as false and in the end made political battle about it. Thus, the most valuable book in our language was thrown out of the schools to please many who knew neither Hebrew nor Greek and could therefore not be sure which translation is the more accurate.

Similarly, it now appears that the Christian Scientists object to references concerning death by germ, virus and bacteria as offensive to their religion. Were there enough Confucians to vote in elections, it might be that the astronomers would have to change from the solar to the lunar calendar. How far are we to go in permitting education to be a compromise among all the varieties of sects? There are more than 260 religious groups in this country, each of which might bring pressures to bear, to say nothing of the A.F. of L., the C.I.O., the N.A.M., and the A.S.P.C.A.

Yet, the members of each sect, group, association, party, are entitled to freedom of conscience. Thus, the Communist claims that he has an absolute right under the Constitution to teach according to his judgment, but when a teacher wishes to

"I REMEMBER NOW," Phil told Virginia as he recalled how Barth had stood shirtless debating whether to go down and speak to the church janitor dressed like that.

"You should. The simply delicious way he threw back his shoulders like a man who has finally made a great decision, and then strode down that driveway. It was so—so human. We simply loved it."

"Yes. Sure, I remember. He came back up with the bearing of a general who had conquered a continent."

"But he never saw what we saw. And that was the way the shade of the Peebles kitchen window moved. I don't know whether Minnie ever said anything, but if she did I know what it would be. 'Those Moores! They've got our minister running around half-naked, too.'" And she smiled, but faintly.

He lumbered to his feet, shouting protests at her.

"Thanks," said Virginia quietly, when he had subsided. "I feel better, too. But that's what I mean when I say I think we're hurting the people we care most about."

He was silent a moment. Then, "And you feel going to church might square it all?"

Virginia shook her head. "No. Just that, no. Somehow I don't."

• • •

Joe gave Edna her ticket and then let someone push between him and her at the entrance door. He always did this. Just as he always led the way, as if they weren't together, up to the cheaper balcony seats where none of his friends would ever be but where he said he liked to sit because he could smoke there; and just as he always said, when the show was over, "Excuse me a minute. I'll meet you outside."

He did not want to be seen with her. It was as plain as the nose on his face. But Edna accepted the arrangement, in spite of its insult to her pride, because if she made any complaint he might not take her at all. He might not take her anywhere. He might stop seeing her altogether.

Joe was a tough customer. He would laugh and carry on with her and think she was cute and all that, but he wasn't going to get caught. He could say to her, as easy as not, "Look, baby, it's this way or not at all. See?" And then where would she be?

No. Keeping still—taking it—she could pretend to herself that he was protecting her rather than himself. Because of Mike. She had let Joe know Michael Flynn had an interest in her, and it was because Joe did not want to stir Mike up that he was so careful.

But she knew in her heart the real reason was that Joe did not care as much as she did. She was not the golden opportunity to him that he was to her. Joe could forget her for weeks at a stretch, while all that time she never once forgot him. And then he would meet her and take her somewhere —to the Rustic Cabin for dancing, over to New York to a show, or just to Dizzy Dan's to drink and talk—and hope would spring up in her again, and she would forgive him.

Well, all right. But she wasn't as crazy about him as he thought she was. In the end, no matter what, she was going to do the best thing for Edna Borowski. Any trouble and Pop would throw her right out on her ear on the street. Though she hated the flat she called home over the drugstore, with its hot small rooms where her imbecile crippled brother sat day after day in his wheel chair playing endlessly with a piece of string, it was, nevertheless, her only refuge until she married.

There was Mike, too. Any trouble and Mike would be through with her. And Mike she must keep in the background of her life until she saw how this business with Joe was coming out.

She sat now waiting for Joe to return from downstairs with a bag of popcorn. She had on her new mouton lamb fur coat, and she had washed her hair this afternoon, and her red plaid wool dress was as smart as anybody's. She knew she looked nice. As nice as any of his friends. His glance had told her so. Yet, in spite of that, a familiar anger was bubbling and seething within her. Anger at his shame of her. She was as good as he! Maybe he had been to college, but it didn't make him any different from her. He liked the same things, laughed at the same jokes, enjoyed the same places. She didn't feel with him the way she did with Mr. Kent, for instance. He was different and no mistake. Cut out of another piece of cloth. But with Joe she felt as easy as she did with Mike. And she was getting tired of his not acknowledging it. What if he did live up on the hill? What if he did have a lot of money? She crossed one knee over the other, and her foot in its smart high-heeled pump began to swing impatiently against the balcony railing in front of her.

In June she would graduate, she was thinking, and then she would have to go to work somewhere. Only she didn't want to go to work. She wanted to get married instead. But she wasn't making any progress toward her goal. Not a bit. Why? Joe didn't have any special girl. She would have heard about it if he had. How long, then, was she going to have to drift along this way getting nowhere?

Maybe she ought to speak to him. Maybe she ought to say, "Look, Joe. I'm not going to sneak around with you any more." In the beginning she hadn't dared anything as bold as that, but wasn't her hold on him a little stronger now than then? She didn't know. She didn't know. She could get him pretty wild but—she shook her head.

What a triumph it would be if she could only go home in the near future with a big diamond blazing on her left hand and show it to Pop. There'd be no more of his banging on the table with his clenched hairy fist and shouting at her the way he did. There'd be no more having to look at George day after day with the wet dribble at the corner of his mouth and his slipping vacant smile. And there'd be no more impatient pity for Ma, whose dark-ringed eyes and silent hopeless suffering haunted her. Oh, she'd be generous with them—if she got Joe. She wouldn't forget them. But she wouldn't have to be there any more—where she had never felt she belonged, anyway.

Sometimes the desire to get free of it was a frenzy within her so that she would be willing—almost—to forget Joe and marry Mike. But marrying Mike wouldn't take her far enough away. She would still be there right next door. Or maybe if they could get one of those veterans' houses down by the brook . . . But even if they did, he would go back every day to see his folks, and she would have to go, too. No. Not Mike. Not yet. Her Pop wanted her to better herself, anyway. That's why he had made her stick at school. And that was why he pounded on the table and yelled at her when her report card wasn't good. He wanted her to graduate and go on up in the world. He was only against Joe because he was afraid there would be no diamond—and no wedding ring, either.

John Straley tells of a Hollywood agent who hooked a client for a thirteen - week television series, then was faced with the problem of providing scripts. A friend suggested, "The Bible's popular this year. Why don't you dramatize something like the Ten Commandments?" "Great idea," agreed the agent, "but you forget I got to supply this client with thirteen programs—not ten. Now the problem is: where can we dig up some guy —not too expensive—who can turn out three extra Commandments for us?"

A prominent and pulchritudinous starlet in Hollywood was discovered gazing blankly into space by Sid Skolsky. "Why the depression?" asked Sid. The starlet sighed deeply, then explained, "My analyst just told me I'm really in love with my father. What'll I do, Sid? He's a married man!"

Parents Protest Doing Homework For Children

By Peter Edson
(For Hal Boyle)

WASHINGTON—(AP)—If the society for the Protection of Parents from School Homework will please come to order, your president will get on with his report.

Frankly, the situation is not good. All over the country parents are tottering under the burden of writing essays on the robin or trying to solve obscure arithmetic problems.

The U. S. Office of Education has no statistics on how many hours parents spend each year on their children's homework.

But a fellow I talked to there said he had a pretty good idea.

"Plenty," he said.

I realized I had a potential member of our society.

"What is your hardest subject?" I asked sympathetically.

"Latin," he said.

"Mine's mathematics," I said.

Actually, the real evil behind doing homework for children often has been overlooked.

Moralists have attacked it on the grounds that a child should do his own homework, and not palm it off on his parents.

That may be true. But I suspect the argument often is used by people who can't do the homework, and therefore hide behind their morality.

I think a more honest approach is this: To do a child's homework tears down the final shred of respect for his parents' ability.

By the time a youngster is a year and a half old, he has begun to think for himself. If he's smart at all—and they all seem smart nowadays—he has us parents pretty well sized up as frauds who rarely have the courage to carry out the threats we make.

In a few fields, however, the parents linger on as something of an authority. True, as the father of four girls, I have to skulk around the fringes of most conversations at our house.

My opinions are worthless on such subjects as (A) how much lipstick should a 14 - year - old wear? (B) how long should a girl's hair be? And (C) are blond boys cuter than dark haired boys? (My girls say blond boys. I'm dark haired myself).

But in one field I always held my own. If a youngster came in with a school problem, Mrs. E. would say sweetly, "take it to your father, dear. He knows everything."

It was simple, for a time. But this year the 14-year-old entered high school and I had to work out various stalls for time.

Such as: "This is something you should learn for yourself. Look it up in the encyclopedia so that next time you'll be sure to know it."

Last week the inevitable blow fell. My daughter came in with:

By HAL BOYLE

"Plane A starts from Airport S at 8 a. m. flying 150 mph. At 9:30 a. m., Plane B starts after A on the same track flying 250 mph. How long will it take B to overtake A?"

"Looks simple," I said, lying hopefully.

Well, I wrestled that problem until algebraic equations covered the living room floor. I mentally flew Plane A from Airport S, and then hurried back and took off in Plane B, until I was airsick.

Finally, hours overdue and given up for lost, I checked in with the answer. Well, anyway, an answer. It was too late. Everyone knew by then that I didn't know any more algebra than a goat.

What has happened to me has happened to millions. So, parents of the world, unite! Join our protective society. Stand firm behind our slogan: "No more homework!"

It's our only hope.

'They Don't Pay Off In Titles,' Chuck Comiskey Says In Tiff

CHICAGO, Jan. 16—(AP)—"I want more money and a contract—they don't pay off on titles."

That's the demand of Chuck Comiskey, whose resignation as vice president and secretary of the Chicago White Sox will come before his mother, Mrs. Grace Comiskey, club president, and the board of directors Friday for review.

Chuck disclosed in an interview that he wasn't interested at this time in becoming president if that position were offered in way of a compromise unless he got a raise and job security.

"All this talk about me wanting to become president of the club now is a lot of bunk," he said.

"That's not the bone of contention. The president still can be fired by the directors in our organization. Titles mean nothing."

Chuck declared his situation cannot be classified as a family squabble.

"My relations with my mother are amicable," he said. "After all she is my mother, and besides she is a wonderful baby sitter.

"Just being a Comiskey isn't enough. There is a misconception that being a Comiskey assures me of a solid position with the club. This is not true. In fact, there has been talk by the board of firing me in the past.

"I grew up thinking I was the heir apparent of the White Sox which, as you know, was founded by my grandfather. But in the last several years there has been nothing to assure me this is true.

"In fact, there have been some things to make me feel that it is not true—such as the board considering to fire me.

"That is why I say titles mean nothing."

Williamsport Hands Good Hope 59-38 Drubbing

Williamsport's Deers harvested a lopsided 59-38 victory over invading Good Hope cagers Tuesday night on their home court.

Good Hope gave the Deers some trouble in the opening period of the contest as they burst into an 11-9 lead, although the Deers surged back to take a 25-15 halftime margin and post a 39-28 three-quarter pole mark.

Bob Picklesimer bucketed 18 points in the fracas for his Deer team to earn scoring honors, while Good Hope's attack was paced by Baird with 15.

Williamsport's reservists made the evening complete for the home crowd by squashing the Good Hope juniors by a 41-18 margin.

Next contest for Williamsport will be Friday night against invading Darby Township. The contest will be Williamsport's Homecoming game, to be followed by a dance.

Trojans Collect 68-53 Win From Mt. Sterling

Darby Trojan cagers collected a comfortable 68-53 over challenging Mt. Sterling basketeers Tuesday night on the Mt. Sterling home court.

The Darby aggregation opened slowly, booting a 20-12 first-period lead to Mt. Sterling.

They whipped back in the second stanza, however, to earn a 33-32 advantage, while pulling out in front by a lopsided 48-34 margin in the third canto.

Darby's difficulties in the first half were due to Joe Brady, former Darby lad and now star of the Mt. Sterling quintet. Brady tallied 20 points in the first half, was held scoreless in the final half.

Leading scorer for Darby in the match was Ronnie Kennard with 18 points. Darby's next test will be Friday night at Williamsport.

Time Shortens For Russia To Enter Olympics

OSLO, Norway, Jan. 16—(AP)—The Russians, who have been hinting they might like to enter the winter Olympics, have been assured they still have a couple of days to go before deciding definitely.

"But time is getting short," said Rolf Peterson, secretary-general of the Oslo Winter Olympics Organization Committee. "We can give the Russians a couple of days yet, but bear in mind that we will have to get housing accommodations for them."

The strongest hint yet the Russians have given they might be here when the games start on Feb. 14 came Tuesday when Dr. W. G. Hardy, a director of the International Ice Hockey Federation said in Edmonton, Can., they had requested membership in the federation and with it permission to compete.

However, nothing has been heard here from the Russians, although they have entered the summer games in Helsinki, which is only a couple of hours by air from the Soviet border.

Joe Louis Winner In Battle To Whip PGA's Jim Crow Rule

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 16—(AP)—Former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis is the winner in his fight to gain Professional Golf Association approval to play in the San Diego Open tournament Thursday.

This made Louis the first Negro, amateur or professional, to gain such approval.

The decision to accept his entry as an invited amateur was announced Tuesday night by Horton Smith, PGA president.

Louis was paired with Smith and another PGA national committeeman, Leland Gibson of Kansas City, as a starting threesome.

Smith expressed pleasure at this arrangement.

Louis said he had nothing against Smith and that when he called him "another Hitler" earlier in the week "it was not him personally but the things he stood for."

Smith said he expected the PGA annual meeting next November would take some action to clarify the situation and possibly establish a uniform code with other golf organizations on the approval of players.

He insisted the PGA rules were not intended to "be difficult for anyone but only to protect the game."

Smith announced at the same time that a PGA ban would stand against another Negro, Los Angeles professional Bill Spiller.

He said Spiller lacked PGA approval as a professional and was also subject to a long-standing tradition based on the PGA bylaw that all members must be white.

Louis declared the bylaw did not prevent Spiller being named an approved player by the PGA and insisted the ban was "just because he is colored."

Fairfield Holds Monroe To Low 38-35 Victory

Monroe's Indian cagers posted a low-scoring 38-35 victory over Fairfield basketeers Tuesday night on the Fairfield home court.

Fairfield held the score down in its contest against the powerful Monroe aggregation with a stalling game.

At one time, in the third quarter, only eight points were scored by both teams, an average of only one point per minute of play.

Monroe held the lead throughout the slow-moving match, 14-9, 24-22, 29-25 and finally 38-35.

Rolland Carpenter and Don Hildenbrandt paced the winning Indian tribe with nine points each, while Fairfield's Barton won game laurels with 12.

Next tilt on tap for the Monroers is Friday night at Saltcreek. Box score of Tuesday's win, Monroe's 12th without a loss this season, is as follows:

Dempsey Seeking Boxing Talent

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16 — (AP)— Former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey has a plan underway to find boxing talent.

He announced Tuesday night he hopes to arrange a series of tournaments throughout the nation. He invited amateurs, 18 or older and weighing more than 175, to sign up. The bouts would be three rounds each, and 10-ounce gloves would be used. There would be no entry fee.

Dempsey gave his New York business address, 1619 Broadway, as the place to which inquiries should be sent.

Traditional Pigskin May Be Replaced

Rubber-Covered Ball Gets Look-See By Chiefs Of NCAA

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Jan. 16—(AP)—Is the pigskin, traditional part of football since it started in 1869, going to disappear?

The football rules committee of the NCAA plans to at least open the way to that possibility.

It is expected to give final approval to provisional permission for use of a ball covered with a material besides leather which has been the standard requirement for 82 years.

While the proposed new rule says, "a ball made of other material besides leather may be used by mutual agreement of the opposing teams," a rubber cover is behind the change.

Manufacturers of a rubber covered ball showed their product to the rules committee and said it had been used in 1,500 college, high school, service and professional games last season.

• • •

PROMOTERS of the rubber covered ball claimed it increases passing and kicking efficiency, particularly when wet, and retains its original shape longer because it doesn't become waterlogged. They told the rules committee, which winds up a three-day meeting here Wednesday, that it will last four to six times longer than a leather covered ball.

The rubber covered ball has the same pebble-grained appearance of the leather and its backers said many teams unaware of its use didn't know the difference.

A rubber manufacturer told the committee it had asked 640 coaches: Does a rubber covered ball increase efficiency of a passer or a ball handler? The answers, the representatives said, were 470 yes and 160 no on a dry field, and 530 yes and 80 no on a wet field.

The National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations earlier this month approved use of a rubber ball specifically if a conference or opposing coaches agreed.

Other major rule changes up for final approval by the committee relate to unnecessary roughness, clipping, defensive holding and substitution.

Cracking down on rough play, the committee has tentatively approved adding striking with the forearm, elbows and locked hands to the use of fists and knees which make the offender subject to disqualification. Up until now, 15 yards was the punishment.

• • •

IT ALSO MADE it mandatory instead of discretionary for officials to throw out of the game any flagrant offender of the rules on personal fouls.

On clipping, the rewritten rule states simply, "blocking an opponent other than the runner, from behind" is a foul.

For the last two years it has been a violation to hit an opponent from the rear only below the waist. The penalty for defensive holding will be increased from five to 15 yards.

In order to make coaches think twice about sending in a substitute just for the purpose of punting while the clock is running, the rule will be changed to charge a time out. It has been only a five-yard penalty which hasn't deterred coaches since they intended to kick anyway.

Tigers Collect 55-53 Overtime Win Over Broncs

Walnut Tiger cagers added their name to the growing list of teams who have beaten the Ashville Broncos Tuesday night by handing the Broncos a 55-53 overtime defeat on the Ashville hardwood.

Playing in tough luck this year, usually formidable Ashville has been knocked off many times this season by margins of only one and two points.

In Tuesday's test against the Tigers, Ashville dominated play in the first half to post quarter leads of 17-11 and 26-20.

Walnut fired up its scoring machinery in the third stanza, however, to take over on a 39-37 count, while the lead see-sawed through the remainder of the tilt.

• • •

WITH 10 SECONDS of regulation play remaining and Walnut ahead two points, Ashville's Ronnie Wilson knotted the score at 52-all and the game went into overtime.

Walnut took off then to earn the victory by tallying three points while holding the Ashvillers to a single free throw.

Wilson was high scorer in the game with a total of 25 points for his Broncos, while Ralph Oldaker paced the winning Tigers with 14.

Next game for Walnut will be Friday night when Atlanta invades, while Ashville will play host to Stoutsville cagers that night also.

Parole Is Delayed In Unusual Case

COLUMBUS, Jan. 16 — (AP)—The Ohio Pardon and Parole Commission has continued until July a parole application for Frank Dicicco of Cuyahoga County. Dr. John School, former penitentiary physician, who performed a dangerous brain operation on Dicicco last May, asked the parole.

The brain surgeon contended the operation made Dicicco a new man eliminating criminal traits. He said if Dicicco stays in prison, efforts to rehabilitate him will be damaged.

Percy Lowry, commission chairman, voted to grant Dicicco a parole, but the other board members voted to continue the application. They are Ray Harmony and Lawrence Hackenberg. Dicicco is serving time for uttering a check with intent to defraud.

'Poor Richard' Cites MacArthur

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 — (AP)—The Poor Richard Club of Philadelphia has presented its gold medal of achievement to Gen. Douglas MacArthur as "a soldier who did his duty as God gave him the light to see that duty."

The award was presented at ceremonies in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

'Missing' Found

DOVER, Jan. 16—(AP)—A police hunt for him was needless, Frank Bennett says. He returned to his home Tuesday after being reported missing since Tuesday. The reason he did not telephone his family that he would be out of town longer than he expected, he said, was because he thought the family also was away.

These Days

give the Bible to children, the Communist makes a noise about separation of Church and State.

It is to much to expect consistency among human beings. But an ordinary approach to the problems of education in a free society must lead to the conclusion that there must be a plan and a system; that those teachers who cannot fit themselves to it ought not to be permitted to teach; and that parents who dislike the plan and system may send their children to schools of their choice.

As a matter of fact, precisely that is happening among parents. There is an astonishing increase in independent (private) and parochial schools. The parochial schools are not limited to Roman Catholics; Jews, Episcopalians, Lutherans and other Protestants establishing such institutions.

The Communist teacher has no claim on the system at all at this time when Soviet Russia is our enemy. He is an agent of a foreign power, engaged in subverting our children with the hope of corrupting the nation.

5 doctors prove this plan breaks the laxative habit

If you take laxatives regularly—here's how you can stop!

Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you may break the laxative habit. And establish your natural powers of regularity. Eighty-three percent of the cases tested did it. So can you.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead: Every night for one week take 2 Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then—nothing!

Every day: drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's Little Liver Pills "unblock" the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers.

Further—Carter's Little Liver Pills contain no habit-forming drugs.

Break the laxative habit . . . with Carter's Little Liver Pills . . . and be regular naturally.

Pickaway County Host To 644 'Guests' During 1951

Prisoners In Jail Ate 12,252 Meals

Sheriff Investigated 264 Traffic Mishaps

Pickaway County played host to 644 "guests" during 1951.

The "guests" were unfortunates who ran afoul of the long arm of the law here for an assortment of violations ranging from intoxication to burglary.

And although many of them probably were not in the mood for it, they consumed a total of 12,252 meals in the county cooler.

A report by Sheriff Charles Radcliff for his department's activities in 1951 shows that each of the persons locked up here last year stowed away an average of 19 meals each at a total cost of $4,066.27.

• • •

BUT AT THAT, it probably was not the same as eating at home, since the 12,252 meals cost an average of only about 33 cents each.

Outside the jail, the county law enforcers investigated 264 traffic accidents last year which resulted in about $80,045 property damage.

But the property damage cost was not as high as the personal miseries of the persons involved. A total of 210 persons were injured in accidents investigated by the sheriff's department and seven persons met their deaths on local highways.

In addition, one airplane pilot died as the result of the only plane crash reported in the county during the year.

Other business dealing with automobiles during the year was 12 autos reported stolen and 18 stolen cars recovered.

Sheriff's deputies also delivered 297 warrants for arrests in 1951, delivered three prisoners to Mansfield Reformatory, two prisoners to the Ohio State Penitentiary and four persons to the state hospital in Columbus.

• • •

FOUR WRIT of partition sales grossing $11,790.23 were handled by the sheriff's office last year and 292 persons were greeted by deputies bearing summonses.

The sheriff's department also delivered 82 notices during the year, two citations, five capiases, 88 bills of information, 36 affidavits and made 48 executions.

Other business of the office included 191 separate investigations. The department investigated 25 reports of breaking and entering, 76 of thefts, 76 miscellaneous complaints and 14 fires.

The year's activities were hard on the tires and prowl cars operated by the department. In completing all of its business of serving warrants, delivering papers and making investigations the department covered 87,360 miles—the equivalent of more than three times around the earth.

A final chore of the department during 1951 was recording fox bounties and collecting fox feet. A total of 150 fox bounties were recorded by the department here in 1951.

'They Don't Pay Off In Titles,' Chuck Comiskey Says In Tiff

CHICAGO, Jan. 16—(AP)—"I want more money and a contract—they don't pay off on titles."

That's the demand of Chuck Comiskey, whose resignation as vice president and secretary of the Chicago White Sox will come before his mother, Mrs. Grace Comiskey, club president, and the board of directors Friday for review.

Chuck disclosed in an interview that he wasn't interested at this time in becoming president if that position were offered in way of a compromise unless he got a raise and job security.

"All this talk about me wanting to become president of the club now is a lot of bunk," he said.

"That's not the bone of contention. The president still can be fired by the directors in our organization. Titles mean nothing."

Chuck declared his situation cannot be classified as a family squabble.

"My relations with my mother are amicable," he said. "After all she is my mother, and besides she is a wonderful baby sitter.

"Just being a Comiskey isn't enough. There is a misconception that being a Comiskey assures me of a solid position with the club. This is not true. In fact, there has been talk by the board of firing me in the past.

"I grew up thinking I was the heir apparent of the White Sox which, as you know, was founded by my grandfather. But in the last several years there has been nothing to assure me this is true.

"In fact, there have been some things to make me feel that it is not true—such as the board considering to fire me.

"That is why I say titles mean nothing."

Williamsport Hands Good Hope 59-38 Drubbing

Williamsport's Deers harvested a lopsided 59-38 victory over invading Good Hope cagers Tuesday night on their home court.

Good Hope gave the Deers some trouble in the opening period of the contest as they burst into an 11-9 lead, although the Deers surged back to take a 25-15 halftime margin and post a 39-28 three-quarter pole mark.

Bob Picklesimer bucketed 18 points in the fracas for his Deer team to earn scoring honors, while Good Hope's attack was paced by Baird with 15.

Williamsport's reservists made the evening complete for the home crowd by squashing the Good Hope juniors by a 41-18 margin.

Next contest for Williamsport will be Friday night against invading Darby Township. The contest will be Williamsport's Homecoming game, to be followed by a dance.

Trojans Collect 68-53 Win From Mt. Sterling

Darby Trojan cagers collected a comfortable 68-53 over challenging Mt. Sterling basketeers Tuesday night on the Mt. Sterling home court.

The Darby aggregation opened slowly, booting a 20-12 first-period lead to Mt. Sterling.

They whipped back in the second stanza, however, to earn a 33-32 advantage, while pulling out in front by a lopsided 48-34 margin in the third canto.

Darby's difficulties in the first half were due to Joe Brady, former Darby lad and now star of the Mt. Sterling quintet. Brady tallied 20 points in the first half, was held scoreless in the final half.

Leading scorer for Darby in the match was Ronnie Kennard with 18 points. Darby's next test will be Friday night at Williamsport.

Time Shortens For Russia To Enter Olympics

OSLO, Norway, Jan. 16—(AP)—The Russians, who have been hinting they might like to enter the winter Olympics, have been assured they still have a couple of days to go before deciding definitely.

"But time is getting short," said Rolf Peterson, secretary-general of the Oslo Winter Olympics Organization Committee. "We can give the Russians a couple of days yet, but bear in mind that we will have to get housing accommodations for them."

The strongest hint yet the Russians have given they might be here when the games start on Feb. 14 came Tuesday when Dr. W. G. Hardy, a director of the International Ice Hockey Federation said in Edmonton, Can., they had requested membership in the federation and with it permission to compete.

However, nothing has been heard here from the Russians, although they have entered the summer games in Helsinki, which is only a couple of hours by air from the Soviet border.

10-Under-Par Wins Tourney

DUNEDIN, Fla., Jan. 16—(AP)—A 10-under-par 62 was the winning score in a field of 44 teams in the Senior Best Ball Pro-Amateur Golf tournament here.

Al Watrous, pro from Birmingham, Mich., and Harold Ryder, amateur from Nantucket, Mass., were the winners Tuesday. Watrous had a 68, Ryder a 71.

Pro Al Fehr of Eau Claire, Wis., and Amateur F. K. Vaughn of Hamilton, Ohio, were three strokes behind.

Lab, Exchange Cagers Tally Wins In Loop

Hessler Lab and Farmers Exchange cagers held onto their ties for the leadership of the Thursday night Commercial Point League Tuesday with victories.

The Thursday loop was set ahead to Tuesday this week because some players of the loop face graduation from Columbus schools Thursday.

In Tuesday's session, Hessler Lab basketeers tallied a 74-40 win over Brownie AC cagers; Farmers Exchange posted a 68-52 win over Columbus Merchants; and Grove City collected a 52-50 overtime win over Sigs food cagers.

Grove City earned its first win of the season in the double-overtime fracas. The game ended 48-48 at regulation time, neither team scored in the first overtime and Grove City tallied four points while Sigs earned two in the final overtime.

BOTH HESSLER'S Lab and Farmers Exchange teams are undefeated with three wins in as many starts this season.

Wednesday night's program in Commercial Point will feature Heart of Ohio cage play.

Joe Louis Winner In Battle To Whip PGA's Jim Crow Rule

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 16—(AP)—Former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis is the winner in his fight to gain Professional Golf Association approval to play in the San Diego Open tournament Thursday.

This made Louis the first Negro, amateur or professional, to gain such approval.

The decision to accept his entry as an invited amateur was announced Tuesday night by Horton Smith, PGA president.

Louis was paired with Smith and another PGA national committeeman, Leland Gibson of Kansas City, as a starting threesome.

Smith expressed pleasure at this arrangement.

Louis said he had nothing against Smith and that when he called him "another Hitler" earlier in the week "it was not him personally but the things he stood for."

Smith said he expected the PGA annual meeting next November would take some action to clarify the situation and possibly establish a uniform code with other golf organizations on the approval of players.

He insisted the PGA rules were not intended to "be difficult for anyone but only to protect the game."

Smith announced at the same time that a PGA ban would stand against another Negro, Los Angeles professional Bill Spiller.

He said Spiller lacked PGA approval as a professional and was also subject to a long - standing tradition based on the PGA bylaw that all members must be white.

Louis declared the bylaw did not prevent Spiller being named an approved player by the PGA and insisted the ban was "just because he is colored."

Fairfield Holds Monroe To Low 38-35 Victory

Monroe's Indian cagers posted a low-scoring 38-35 victory over Fairfield basketeers Tuesday night on the Fairfield home court.

Fairfield held the score down in its contest against the powerful Monroe aggregation with a stalling game.

At one time, in the third quarter, only eight points were scored by both teams, an average of only one point per minute of play.

Monroe held the lead throughout the slow-moving match, 14-9, 24-22, 29-25 and finally 38-35.

Rolland Carpenter and Don Hildenbrandt paced the winning Indian tribe with nine points each, while Fairfield's Barton won game laurels with 12.

Next tilt on tap for the Monroers is Friday night at Saltcreek. Box score of Tuesday's win, Monroe's 12th without a loss this season, is as follows:

Dempsey Seeking Boxing Talent

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16 — (AP)— Former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey has a plan underway to find boxing talent.

He announced Tuesday night he hopes to arrange a series of tournaments throughout the nation. He invited amateurs, 18 or older and weighing more than 175, to sign up. The bouts would be three rounds each, and 10-ounce gloves would be used. There would be no entry fee.

Dempsey gave his New York business address, 1619 Broadway, as the place to which inquiries should be sent.

Traditional Pigskin May Be Replaced

Rubber-Covered Ball Gets Look-See By Chiefs Of NCAA

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Jan. 16—(AP)—Is the pigskin, traditional part of football since it started in 1869, going to disappear?

The football rules committee of the NCAA plans to at least open the way to that possibility.

It is expected to give final approval to provisional permission for use of a ball covered with a material besides leather which has been the standard requirement for 82 years.

While the proposed new rule says, "a ball made of other material besides leather may be used by mutual agreement of the opposing teams," a rubber cover is behind the change.

Manufacturers of a rubber covered ball showed their product to the rules committee and said it had been used in 1,500 college, high school, service and professional games last season.

• • •

PROMOTERS of the rubber covered ball claimed it increases passing and kicking efficiency, particularly when wet, and retains its original shape longer because it doesn't become waterlogged. They told the rules committee, which winds up a three-day meeting here Wednesday, that it will last four to six times longer than a leather covered ball.

The rubber covered ball has the same pebble-grained appearance of the leather and its backers said many teams unaware of its use didn't know the difference.

A rubber manufacturer told the committee it had asked 640 coaches: Does a rubber covered ball increase efficiency of a passer or a ball handler? The answers, the representatives said, were 470 yes and 160 no on a dry field, and 530 yes and 80 no on a wet field.

The National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations earlier this month approved use of a rubber ball specifically if a conference or opposing coaches agreed.

Other major rule changes up for final approval by the committee relate to unnecessary roughness, clipping, defensive holding and substitution.

Cracking down on rough play, the committee has tentatively approved adding striking with the forearm, elbows and locked hands to the use of fists and knees which make the offender subject to disqualification. Up until now, 15 yards was the punishment.

• • •

IT ALSO MADE it mandatory instead of discretionary for officials to throw out of the game any flagrant offender of the rules on personal fouls.

On clipping, the rewritten rule states simply, "blocking an opponent other than the runner, from behind" is a foul.

For the last two years it has been a violation to hit an opponent from the rear only below the waist. The penalty for defensive holding will be increased from five to 15 yards.

In order to make coaches think twice about sending in a substitute just for the purpose of punting while the clock is running, the rule will be changed to charge a time out. It has been only a five-yard penalty which hasn't deterred coaches since they intended to kick anyway.

Tigers Collect 55-53 Overtime Win Over Broncs

Walnut Tiger cagers added their name to the growing list of teams who have beaten the Ashville Broncos Tuesday night by handing the Broncos a 55-53 overtime defeat on the Ashville hardwood.

Playing in tough luck this year, usually formidable Ashville has been knocked off many times this season by margins of only one and two points.

In Tuesday's test against the Tigers, Ashville dominated play in the first half to post quarter leads of 17-11 and 26-20.

Walnut fired up its scoring machinery in the third stanza, however, to take over on a 39-37 count, while the lead see-sawed through the remainder of the tilt.

• • •

WITH 10 SECONDS of regulation play remaining and Walnut ahead two points, Ashville's Ronnie Wilson knotted the score at 52-all and the game went into overtime.

Walnut took off then to earn the victory by tallying three points while holding the Ashvillers to a single free throw.

Wilson was high scorer in the game with a total of 25 points for his Broncos, while Ralph Oldaker paced the winning Tigers with 14.

Next game for Walnut will be Friday night when Atlanta invades, while Ashville will play host to Stoutsville cagers that night also.

Parole Is Delayed In Unusual Case

COLUMBUS, Jan. 16 — (AP)—The Ohio Pardon and Parole Commission has continued until July a parole application for Frank Dicicco of Cuyahoga County. Dr. John School, former penitentiary physician, who performed a dangerous brain operation on Dicicco last May, asked the parole.

The brain surgeon contended the operation made Dicicco a new man eliminating criminal traits. He said if Dicicco stays in prison, efforts to rehabilitate him will be damaged.

Percy Lowry, commission chairman, voted to grant Dicicco a parole, but the other board members voted to continue the application. They are Ray Harmony and Lawrence Hackenberg. Dicicco is serving time for uttering a check with intent to defraud.

'Poor Richard' Cites MacArthur

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 — (AP)—The Poor Richard Club of Philadelphia has presented its gold medal of achievement to Gen. Douglas MacArthur as "a soldier who did his duty as God gave him the light to see that duty."

The award was presented at ceremonies in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

'Missing' Found

DOVER, Jan. 16—(AP)—A police hunt for him was needless, Frank Bennett says. He returned to his home Tuesday after being reported missing since Tuesday. The reason he did not telephone his family that he would be out of town longer than he expected, he said, was because he thought the family also was away.

These Days

give the Bible to children, the Communist makes a noise about separation of Church and State.

It is to much to expect consistency among human beings. But an ordinary approach to the problems of education in a free society must lead to the conclusion that there must be a plan and a system; that those teachers who cannot fit themselves to it ought not to be permitted to teach; and that parents who dislike the plan and system may send their children to schools of their choice.

As a matter of fact, precisely that is happening among parents. There is an astonishing increase in independent (private) and parochial schools. The parochial schools are not limited to Roman Catholics; Jews, Episcopalians, Lutherans and other Protestants establishing such institutions.

The Communist teacher has no claim on the system at all at this time when Soviet Russia is our enemy. He is an agent of a foreign power, engaged in subverting our children with the hope of corrupting the nation.

They Wanted Girl, Got Triple Boys

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Jan. 15—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Gosselin had a hankering for a daughter.

Their first child was a boy, Michael, now 7. Then along came twins, David and Donald, 6.

Now in Glens Falls Hospital Mrs. Gosselin has given birth to triplets—all boys.

The parents, both 26, live in nearby Whitehall. Gosselin is a highway maintenance employe.

Pickaway County Host To 644 'Guests' During 1951

Prisoners In Jail Ate 12,252 Meals

Sheriff Investigated 264 Traffic Mishaps

Pickaway County played host to 644 "guests" during 1951.

The "guests" were unfortunates who ran afoul of the long arm of the law here for an assortment of violations ranging from intoxication to burglary.

And although many of them probably were not in the mood for it, they consumed a total of 12,252 meals in the county cooler.

A report by Sheriff Charles Radcliff for his department's activities in 1951 shows that each of the persons locked up here last year stowed away an average of 19 meals each at a total cost of $4,066.27.

* * *

BUT AT THAT, it probably was not the same as eating at home, since the 12,252 meals cost an average of only about 33 cents each.

Outside the jail, the county law enforcers investigated 264 traffic accidents last year which resulted in about $80,045 property damage.

But the property damage cost was not as high as the personal miseries of the persons involved. A total of 210 persons were injured in accidents investigated by the sheriff's department and seven persons met their deaths on local highways.

In addition, one airplane pilot died as the result of the only plane crash reported in the county during the year.

Other business dealing with automobiles during the year was 12 autos reported stolen and 18 stolen cars recovered.

Sheriff's deputies also delivered 297 warrants for arrests in 1951, delivered three prisoners to Mansfield Reformatory, two prisoners to the Ohio State Penitentiary and four persons to the state hospital in Columbus.

* * *

FOUR WRIT of partition sales grossing $11,790.23 were handled by the sheriff's office last year and 292 persons were greeted by deputies bearing summonses.

The sheriff's department also delivered 82 notices during the year, two citations, five capiases, 88 bills of information, 36 affidavits and made 48 executions.

Other business of the office included 191 separate investigations. The department investigated 25 reports of breaking and entering, 76 of thefts, 76 miscellaneous complaints and 14 fires.

The year's activities were hard on the tires and prowl cars operated by the department. In completing all of its business of serving warrants, delivering papers and making investigations the department covered 87,360 miles—the equivalent of more than three times around the earth.

A final chore of the department during 1951 was recording fox bounties and collecting fox feet. A total of 150 fox bounties were recorded by the department here in 1951.

"We were born 30 years too soon. We can't fight the battle like it is. Conditions are too fast."
